U. S. Doubles Army To 3,600,000 Men

U. S. Official

Secretary Stimson announced today the Army had started expanding to approximately 3,600,000 officers and men, more than doubling its present strength in ground and air forces.

Stimson said the increase, authorized by President Roosevelt, would be made this year, with the first three new divisions to be organized by March 15. Looking to further increase of undisclosed size next year, camp facilities are to be expanded in the meanwhile.

The expansion, announced at a press conference, calls for:

More than double the number of air combat units.

Creation of 32 motorized or triangular divisions, in addition to the 27 conventional ground troop divisions now in service, and doubling the number of armored units.

A proportionate increase in anti-aircraft, engineer and similar special units.

Formation of 50 or more military police battalions to replace troops now guarding critical facilities in continental United States.

A large increase in the number of men in training centers to provide replacement for all organized units and the personnel for "the additional units to be created in the spring of 1943."

As a part of the vast expansion, Stimson announced at the same time, 75,000 officers will be commissioned in special officer candidate schools this year and requirements for air force pilots, bombardiers and navigators had been lowered from 20 to 18 years.

Married men now also may train as fliers, and intelligence tests have been substituted for educational requirements.

Stimson said the Army increase called for a vast expansion also of housing and training facilities which, he added, has already started.

The Army now is building nine new camps to accommodate 30,000 men each, he said. All training centers are being expanded to accommodate an additional 200,000. In addition, five temporary tent camps are being set up.

CORREGIDOR SHOTS DOWN 2 HEAVY JAP AIR BOMBERS

Jan. 15 (AP)

The War Department announced today that defenders of the Philippine fortifications shot down two heavy Japanese bombers and hit others in a flight of nine which attacked Corregidor island in Manila Bay.

Casualties among the American and Philippine troops were slight, the department said, and only minor damage was suffered by the island fortress.

Japan's resort to a ruthless firing squad rule for the conquered areas of the Philippines gave the capital pointed evidence today that a fifth column of Filipino patriots is at work for Gen. Douglas MacArthur behind the invader's lines.

MacArthur's communiques for some days past have shown that SUBMARINE'S TRAIL—Progress of enemy submarine toward the American coastline is shown by the two sinkings marked on this map . . . the torpedoing of a tanker (at 1), some 60 miles south of Block Island, which followed the destruction of a 10,000-ton freighter (at 2), 160 miles off Nova Scotia.

SINGAPORE WATCHES BATTLE IN RAIN CLOUDS

Singapore, Jan. 15 (AP)

By C. YATES McDANIEL

Relays of British and Dutch fighters battled Japanese air raiders over Singapore for an extended period this morning in a grim game of hide and seek in rain clouds which swept across the island.

Through a rift, I saw a melee of planes diving, twisting and side-slipping, and heard muffled machine-gun bursts. The rain squalls veiled distant action.

A few minutes later I saw one plane plummet through a cloud toward the earth.

The drone of motors in the clouds occasionally was punctuated by anti-aircraft fire. Toward the end of the air raid alarm here I saw an explosion of one stick of bombs in the distance.

SINGAPORE FATE AT STAKE

(There was little word of the battle to stem the Japanese advance on Singapore. In New York, CBS heard the All-India (Singapore) radio stating "there has been little contact between our forces and the enemy in the last 24 hours."

(A British radio broadcast stated that the battle on the Malay peninsula "is now nearing the real defense zone of Singapore."

(S. A. Wykes, International News Service staff correspondent at Singapore, reported that British forces were still falling back toward the southern Malay peninsula, but that muddy roads were impeding the Jap advance.

(In addition, British aspersa planted land mines, blew up bridges and placed other obstacles in the path of the invaders.)

REFUGEES CLOG CITY

An unofficial survey by the ministry of information showed that small formations of Japanese planes over southern Malaya yesterday were engaged by British fighters and anti-aircraft batteries. It was believed that fighters damaged at least one enemy plane and the ground fire downed one and damaged two others.

The enemy submarine which attacked the Panamanian tanker Norness yesterday off Montauk Point stayed on the surface while firing three torpedoes at regular intervals into the ship, her captain, Harold Hansen, said today.

Magnus Isaksen, skipper of the fisherman Malvina B, which rescued Hansen and seven of the tanker's crew, quoted the Norness' master as saying:

"Not until we were hit by the second torpedo did we realize we were being attacked by a submarine."

Capt. Isaksen declared that the submarine commander "apparently was quite casual about the affair." The tanker's master told him that the sub stayed on top while firing three torpedoes at regular intervals into the tanker.

"We on the Malvina B were fishing about 2:30 yesterday afternoon," Isaksen continued. "We noticed there was something floating in the distance. As we got nearer we saw it was a lifeboat in which were Capt. Hansen and his men."

"One man had a broken kneecap. We took them aboard and brought them to port. The way it was described to me, the sub circled the boat before firing the second torpedo, which struck aft."

Navy Says Sub Killed 2 Men on Oil Tanker

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 15 (AP)—Disclosure that an enemy submarine had deliberately circled a Panamanian tanker just off Long Island, exploding two torpedoes in her port side and one in her starboard, was made today by Navy officials in detailing the closest approach of actual warfare to the nation's east coast.

Rear Admiral Edward C. Kalbfus, commander of the Newport naval base, disclosed that the attack by an unidentified submarine on the tanker Norness had resulted in the death of two men—reviving an earlier Navy estimate. He said 35 officers and men had been rescued and were in "good shape."

The Norness was still partially afloat today—her bow sticking almost vertically out of the water—and Admiral Kalbfus notified the Navy Department the vessel constituted a menace to navigation.

WAR 100 MILES OFF N. Y.

The torpedoing occurred at 1:20 p. m. (E. S. T.), Wednesday, 40 miles southeast of Montauk point, L. I., little more than 100 miles from New York harbor.

Navy officers told the story of a deliberate, methodical attack in which the submarine first discharged a torpedo into the port side of the fuel oil-laden tanker, swung about and fired another torpedo into the other side, and then returned to send a final "tin fish" into the port side of the stricken vessel.

Adm. Kalbfus identified the two dead men as Kaare Reinertsen and Eell Dremeth, both apparently Norwegians, as were most of those rescued. None was an American citizen.

Some of those picked up by a fleet of rescue and attack vessels that sped out from Newport and the New London naval base after the stricken tanker was spotted by a patrol plane yesterday actually were taken from near freezing water. Others were in lifeboats and six were clinging to a life raft.

NEW IN ONLY WATER

"The seas had been wallowing around in the water for some time in fuel oil," Kalbfus said and explained that there were no interviews with survivors because his first concern was their health and comfort. "I wanted to make them as comfortable as possible."

However, all but two or three would be released from the Newport hospital shortly, he predicted. The rescuers reported, he said, they left the tanker still afloat, its bow rising from the water almost 50 feet in the air.

The 5677-ton tanker was built in Hamburg in 1939 and flew the Norwegian flag plying between Liver-

U. S. Plane Program Lags, Senate Charge

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (INS)—Charging the OPM with failure, the Senate Defense Committee today declared that the warplane program is lagging in both quality and quantity, and assailed waste and extravagance in some phases of the war program and called for drastic remedies.

The smiles of these two pretty maids, Maja, 5, and Eva Konig, 9, express their gratitude over their safe arrival in New York aboard the Portuguese ship M. V. Guine. The girls, who come from Zagreb, Yugoslavia, wear starred and striped babushkas. Their mother, a doctor, arrived with them.

With remarkable frankness the committee said, in a report after extensive investigations, that some American planes are inferior to foreign makes, and that obsolete planes have been sent into action.

The committee declared that "only about 25 per cent of our present production is of combat ships considered to be equal to or superior to the best types produced abroad."

Unless methods are changed, the committee said, more than half the production of American pursuit, or fighting planes in 1942 will be a model which no longer rates "as better than a good pursuit trainer because of its limitations in speed, ceiling and fire power."

The committee, however, declared that great progress has been made in building bombers, adding that some American bombing planes are the best in the world.

PLANES OBSOLETE

The report said that at the outbreak of the World War in 1939 the armed forces had only enough planes for skeleton forces, and that many were of inferior quality. It added:

"There seems little reason to analyze the facts by which this conclusion was reached prior to the war, since the events of the last few weeks have demonstrated its truth beyond reasonable doubt."

"Not only has it been shown that we haven't had a great quantity of planes in action, but information made available to the public demonstrates that too many of the ships used were of types long considered by our armed forces as obsolete."

The committee, headed by Sen. Truman (D.) of Missouri, called

5 OF 7 IN U. S. BOMBER CRASH RESCUED IN N. H.

NORTH WOODSTOCK, N. H., Jan. 15 (AP)—Breaking their way through five miles of snow-covered woodland, a volunteer rescue party brought to safety today five of a seven-man crew of an Army bomber which crashed into a mountainside last night, killing two of its occupants.

Army officials said the twin-motored ship was on a routine training flight from Westover Field, Chicopee, Mass. They gave the names of the crew as follows:

2D LT. FLETCHER M. CRAIG, 260 Sycamore st., Gridley, Cal.

2D LT. WOODROW A. KANTNER, 118 Walnut ave., Cranford, N. J.

PVT. RAYMOND F. LAWRENCE, 202A Pleasant st., Worcester, Mass.

PVT. ROBERT A. PICARD, 604 Dickensey st., Springfield, Mass.

PVT. RICHARD G. CHUBB, 2 Wilson ave., North Billerica, Mass.

PVT. NOAH W. PHILLIPS, Route 6, Fayetteville, Ark.

Lieutenants Craig and Kantner and Pvt. Chubb were taken to the Lincoln, N. H. Hospital.

It was not known immediately who was killed.

The Associated Press correspondent in the vicinity said that two died when the big ship crashed into the side of Mt. Jim, about five miles from the nearest highway and that three bombs exploded.

A rescue party, headed by Sherman Adams, plowed into the woods on snowshoes upon hearing the explosions. They succeeded in bringing the survivors out early today, two of them in critical condition.

Three of the injured walked more than a mile before they were picked up by the searchers.

9 YEARS IN POWER, HITLER EATS CROW AS ANNIVERSARY DISH

By PAUL WHELTON

As the days fall off the calendar and the date of Jan. 30th comes closer and closer, Adolf Hitler is faced with a very pretty problem.

ON JOB

International News Photograph Service
CHECKUP—Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian Dept., U. S. Army, pays a flying visit to Iolani Palace, Honolulu, to check up on civilian affairs.

On that day, the ninth anniversary of his rise to power in Germany, he must stand up in Berlin's great Sportpalast—if he follows the procedure of previous years—and publicly eat the words which he roared out in such triumph at the same spot on Jan. 30, 1941.

German submarine fleets, the air force and land divisions (he promised) would strike that spring and "force a decision," which could be only a German decision.

Just a month earlier, in the same place, the Fuehrer had told German soldiers, in a New Year's message: "Soldiers of the National Socialist armed forces of the Greater Reich, the year 1941 will bring completion of the greatest victory in our history."

But what can Hitler tell the German people this year on the ninth anniversary of the Third Reich's history?

His diannayed legions are in steady retreat on the long Russian front, staining with blood the terrain that was so deeply drenched in other German blood while the territory was being won last summer.

DEFEAT IN LIBYA

In Libya and Tripolitania he faces total defeat and death or capture of German-Italian forces under Gen. Erwin Rommel.

The Fuehrer's camp is unquestionably torn with dissension. He is gone, a prisoner in England; Goering has been out of the picture, and mysteriously, since the start of the fatal Russian campaign, army chiefs have been purged, with Hitler taking over command.

He is sitting on a veritable volcano regarding the occupied countries, with every possibility that it will blow up.

He has paid a tremendous price in men and material during the year in which he assured his people the victory would be won.

And, worst of all, he now has on his back the most dreaded of all his enemies, the United States—the nation whose entry into World War I spelled Germany's defeat.

When Hitler spoke in the Sportpalast last Jan. 30, he grew facetious at times. The Nazis, under a momentum gained by years of militaristic preparation, had a long string of victories before him. He could afford to let go and be facetious.

He admitted jocosely the assertion by an English commentator that he had made seven mistakes that far in the war—and Hitler went beyond that and stated he had made 724.

COULD HAVE WON WAR

But what he did not tell his people, uncritical then because of many victories, was that avoidance of those mistakes would have won the war for Germany long before. Nor did he enlarge on what they were—these seven.

His first mistake was in not beginning air attacks on Britain at

RESEARCH JOB ONLY FOR LINDY

Washington

Jan. 15 (AP)

Charles Lindbergh will not return to active duty with the Army Air Corps, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today, but for the present will engage in technical research on a commercial project in which the War Department is directly interested.

The secretary told his press conference that Lindbergh, formerly an air corps reserve colonel, called on him last Monday to ask whether he could be of any use to the government or the War Department.

"I told him," Stimson said, "that we were always glad to receive information, help or advice from anyone who thought he could be of service, and I asked him what he thought he could do most usefully."

"He replied that he thought for the present he could be most useful in the line of technical experimentation."

The next day, Stimson said, Lindbergh conferred with Lieut.-Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army air forces, and Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air.

"All that I can say now," Stimson concluded, "is that he decided, with our approval, to devote his time for the present to a technical commercial project in which this department is directly interested. I think that covers all that can be said at this time."

PAY BOOST FOR ALL STATE WORKERS, GOVERNOR'S PLAN

Governor Saltonstall said today he intended to ask pay increases for all state employees. The request will be made in his message to the special legislative session later this month.

Speaking at a meeting of Greater Boston United War Fund committee in Hotel Statler, he said:

"The cost of living has risen tremendously. To meet it, there has been no corresponding increase in the income of state employees."

"In intend to include it among matters which I shall suggest to the General Court for action."

Pointing out that the special session will confine its business, "I trust," to measures directly connected with war emergencies, Saltonstall added:

"I consider this question to be in that category."

He declared however, that the uppermost thought now "must be to stimulate to the fullest our feeling of personal responsibility to our country and our nation."

"There can be no better opportunity for sharing that responsibility than by contributing to the United War Fund."

A bill calling for 10 per cent pay increases for all state employees has been filed with the House clerk by Kenneth I. Taylor, secretary-treasurer and legislative agent of Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, AFL.

Leap Year Babies Lose Their Birthday

You think you have troubles? Well, brothers and sisters, harken to the woes of three very young Bostonians who by the end of next month or the beginning of March will have spent 731 more or less happy days upon this benighted earth only to learn a very sad fact.

Somewhere between February 28th and March 1st an extremely important 24 hours are being lost to them. And this comes at a stage when they can ask a mighty pertinent "how come?" and do.

You see, little boys and girls go through an awful lot before they reach the age of two, what with being pestered by silly relatives, doctors, measles, whooping cough, and all kinds of stuff. So it's quite disturbing to tender young minds to find out that when you're two, you're not two!

When a fellow's one year old he's ready to admit he doesn't know much about birthdays and that sort of thing. But at two years, when he's gone to the trouble to learn how to say, "thank you" and "please" and has so much breath he can blow out three candles on a cake (one for good luck, mamma says), not being able to have a birthday because somebody didn't know the right way to make a calendar just doesn't seem fair.

All of which brings us down to the sad plight of three Bostonians, Patricia Brown of O'Callaghan Way, South Boston; Conrad Masson of Mozart st., Jamaica Plain, and Thomas Adrian Kelley, formerly of Gould st., West Roxbury, now of Springfield. They were born Feb. 29, 1940, Leap Year Day.

The daddies and mommies of the leap year babes promise, however, to hold small parties, either February 28th or March 1st, and when 1944 rolls around, Tommy, Patricia and Conrad are going to get all-out spreads which oughta more'n make up for the lost birthdays.

Tired? Run-down? Under wartime strain?
You owe it to yourself to find out about

VITAMINS

VITAMINS are vital to wartime America. They're food elements you need to help you feel fit. Without your full supply of vitamins and minerals you can't do your best work. You can't be really alive, alert and healthy.

The new easy way

You get vitamins and minerals in food, of course. But it's not so simple to pick the right foods day after day. That's why Vimms were developed to help you make sure you get all the vitamins you need. Just take three tempting tablets each day!

6 vitamins and 3 minerals
Vimms give you 6 vitamins—the very ones science says you may need. And you also get their vital mineral team-mates—Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. Note, please, that the potencies of all vitamins in Vimms are fully adequate, even the most costly. If you are like thousands of others who realize their need for vitamins and minerals—but are held back by price—here's good news.

Lowest cost ever
Vimms cost less than any product of comparable type and potency. You'll like everything about Vimms—their low price, their pleasant taste, their balanced formula; their convenient package. Remember—nationally recognized authorities say 3 out of 4 need more vitamins and minerals. So why wait? Don't take chances—take Vimms. It's great to feel fit!

Note to Doctors and Nutritionists:

Vimms are chemically standardized and biologically controlled; a balanced dietary supplement whose formula is guaranteed to supply, in each day's ration, the full minimum adult requirements of Vitamins A, B₁, B₂ (G), C, D, and Iron, with protective quantities of Vitamin P-P, and not less than 1/2 the Calcium and 1/2 the Phosphorus required daily.

Junior Patriots Aid Sale of War Bonds

Four small Cambridge boys were busy today pushing the sales of defense bonds and stamps in their neighborhood, where their work has garnered $30 for Uncle Sam in the past four days.

The boys, who call themselves the "Junior American Patriots," are James Fitzgerald, 12, of Palermo st., Cambridge, the originator of the patriotic gesture; Gerald and Joseph Cullinane, aged 9 and 13, respectively, of Willow st., and Charles Linehan, 8, also of Willow st.

According to James Fitzgerald, the business manager of the group, the idea for selling defense stamps and bonds came a few weeks ago as they were walking along Memorial Drive.

As they watched a convoy of soldiers go by and as they saw flags flying on different buildings, they were inspired to the point of deciding then and there that they wanted to do something to help their country.

Before they became salesmen for Uncle Sam's defense stamps and bonds, it was agreed they should have the right kind of permission to do so. The next day, Jimmy wrote a letter to Governor Saltonstall explaining the plan.

The governor's reply was all they needed and when the mail man brought it, the letter said in part: "You certainly have my approval of your plans for helping sell defense stamps and bonds. I think it is a fine idea for you and your friends to start. Spirit like that will help to keep our flag flying—Governor Saltonstall."

Hingham Laundry Destroyed by Fire

A two-alarm fire early today destroyed the Hingham Laundry at Kirby and Rockland sts., Hingham. Damage was not immediately estimated but Fire Chief Henry Backman said the laundry was a total loss.

Cause was undetermined. The fire was discovered by Hingham police, investigating why a telephone receiver was off the hook. Chief Backman asked the fire marshal to investigate and Fire Inspector Edward Shea was sent to the scene.

Auto-Use Tax Stamps Ready

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Automobile-use tax stamps go on sale today, but many motorists will have to supply their own glue to fasten them on, and many others may be unable to find a place to buy them.

The Treasury said shipping delays would keep some postoffices and federal revenue offices from getting supplies immediately. The stamps sell for $2.09 and will be good from Feb. 1 until July 1, when a $5 stamp will be required for the following full year.

The glue mix-up resulted from regulations which in 23 states prohibited stickers on windshields. The glue was put on the back instead of the front, but subsequent 1/2 most of the states waived the rules to permit display of the stamps.

Nazis Register U. S. Property in Paris

VICHY, Jan. 15 (AP)—German authorities set up an office in Paris today for registration of all American-owned property there as a possible prelude to confiscation. All such property was ordered registered by Feb. 22.

Revere Plans Normal Summer

Revere Beach concessionaires and officials of the Wonderland dog track were assured today that unless drastic unforeseen developments arise business will resume as usual next summer at the resort.

Following a conference with military authorities Mayor Raymond E. Carey announced the civilian defense groups organized at the beach and the dog track were trained with a view to handling large crowds. He said military officials agreed with him that for reasons of morale it was desirable for the resort to continue normally.

Fr. Murphy, Uxbridge, Dies

UXBRIDGE, Jan. 15—The Rev. Richard D. Murphy, 65, pastor of St. Mary's Church, died suddenly of a heart attack in the church rectory today, shortly after celebrating the 8 o'clock mass. Born in Chicago, Fr. Murphy was educated in Paris and Quebec and was ordained to the priesthood in Springfield in July, 1903. He had served churches in Athol, Lincolnville, and East Longmeadow and had been pastor of St. Mary's 15 years.

He organized the St. Mary's Boys' Club, built an addition to the church and was active in promoting parish athletics.

HITLER'S MOVE TO PUT U. S. IN WAR DOOMED NAZI 'BIG SHOT' BOEMER

By PIERRE J. HUSS
Copyright, 1941

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Until after President Roosevelt's election to a third term, Boemer held his own. The Nazi press occasionally was permitted to blow off steam in the wake of some particular incident in America such as the Communist raid in New York on the liner Bremen and the tearing down of the Nazi flag, but on the whole the press and official policy was careful not to aggravate openly the Reich's relations with the United States.

Boemer had legions of friends and also silent support in many high and low places of the Reich for his policy of restraint toward America.

He ran into many political storms and hot sessions behind the scenes of Naziland as the war lengthened and grew tougher and the sentiment in America against the Nazis became hardened and bitter. He set his jaw and redoubled his efforts, hoping against hope that the worst would pass and that events in the end vindicate his policy.

He could not know as far back as May of 1941, that in the innermost secret of his heart the Fuehrer already was hard at work plotting a desperate alternative for America, which would permit no such handicaps as the Boemer policy and therefore he would have to be ruthlessly eliminated.

Hitler's plan of swinging the Japs into line against America for an ultimatum showdown after the invasion of Russia tolerated no medium course and in fact called for the immediate and definite education of the German people into a hostile state of mind toward anything and everything American.

ALL-OUT PROPAGANDA

It called for an all-out propaganda campaign of vilification, and putting all blame for continuation of the war on the man in the White House Hitler dreaded and feared.

It called also for the softening of the shock in the people's mind, which the active participation in the war by America was sure to produce.

Boemer stood in the way of the Fuehrer's plans in relation to America.

It wouldn't do just to kick him out, for Charlie Boemer, on the whole, had become a sort of political barometer and landmark in Hitler's capital. To all in the know, he was the real Number Four Big-Shot.

I first got to know Boemer in the late twenties at the University of Missouri, where he came to lecture before the School of Journalism where I was a student.

I ran into him again at the beginning of 1934 while seeking to establish inside contacts with the Nazis. I was transferred from London to Berlin as correspondent, a complete stranger in a maelstrom of news and events needing quick and efficient coverage.

Guided by chance into the headquarters of Alfred Rosenberg, the Nazi philosopher, I found myself face to face again with Karl Boemer. He was as surprised as I was.

BOOSTED ROSENBERG

In those days Hitler, still shaken and with tongue in cheek as the aftermath of the 1934 blood purge, continued to lean heavily on the silent and reserved Rosenberg. He had the latter in mind for his next foreign minister and to that end Boemer threw himself into the task without sparing himself.

He carried the cause for Rosenberg far and wide by the time Hitler for reasons of his own turned away from Rosenberg to pick on Ribbentrop for foreign minister. Boemer had made such an impression on Hitler that he was switched to the foreign office to shake the dust of tradition and routine from the venerable machine.

Joe Goebbels was having a hard time hitting the right tune of propaganda in the outside world because he had never been across the German borders, so one fine morning he went to Hitler and convinced him that a live wire like Boemer should be assigned to him.

Otto Dietrich, newly appointed Press Chief of the Reich by Hitler and desperately looking around for someone who knew what to do, asked Hitler for the services of Boemer. Hitler compromised by transferring Boemer into the Propaganda Ministry assigned to the job of aiding both Goebbels and Dietrich.

This placed Boemer between two fires, but he made friends with both Nazi moguls by flatly refusing to play favorites.

His main job was to put steam behind the Nazi foreign propaganda outside of Germany. Part of the job was that of establishing closer contact with the foreign correspondents in Berlin and in particular with the American correspondents.

Boemer launched a new policy of aiding foreign correspondents in every possible form. He opened channels of information and approach to Nazi keymen hitherto closed to the ordinary foreign correspondents; he organized a fast-clicking Department of Information open day and night to questions and phone calls, and finally looked about for ways and means to lighten the personal difficulties and troubles of foreign correspondents in Berlin.

Over in the Foreign Office, Ribbentrop had picked out a young man named Paul Schmidt, fresh from the provinces around Kiel as stormtrooper and propagandist of the S.S. Boemer liked him and went out of his way to boost him up the ladder.

SCHMIDT RISES SWIFTLY

By the time war began, Schmidt had risen in the Foreign Office to the dizzy rank equal almost to Boemer's, partly because of the intense jealousy and rivalry existing between people like Ribbentrop, Goebbels and Dietrich.

Ribbentrop was not going to have Goebbels or Dietrich running the press policy and propaganda output of the Foreign Office, himself overshadowed by Goebbels or Dietrich.

It aggravated and piqued his amour propre to have a Goebbels or Dietrich man of high rank always outshining and outdoing his own representative and mouthpiece. Therefore, he threw all orthodox procedure to the winds and promoted Paul Schmidt over the heads of young and old alike in that Foreign Office.

It caused much gnashing of teeth among the men who had labored for years to achieve official rank.

Schmidt paid back by cracking the whip and surrounded himself in a world of his own inside that Foreign Office with very young henchmen of his own choosing.

JAP BOMBERS SEEK OUT BIG DUTCH NAVAL BASE

BATAVIA, Jan. 15 (AP)—While Dutch warplanes roared out from their jungle bases today in search of new enemy targets, the Japanese struck a fresh blow in a bombing attack aimed at objectives near the important Netherlands East Indies military and naval base of Amboina.

(Amboina, in the Molucca island group between Celebes and New Guinea, would be a long reach for the Japanese from Davao, 775 miles north in the Philippines, or from their footholds on northern Borneo. But it is only some 600 miles southeast of the Mindanao peninsula of Celebes, where the Japanese also have made landings.)

A Japanese communique, as broadcast from Tokyo, reported air attacks on Amboina as well as New Guinea and New Britain, in Australia's Bismarck archipelago.)

A brief NEI communique merely reported the Japanese attack and added that "further interesting details" were expected.

The strongest Japanese foothold on Indies territory appeared to be at Tarakan, off Borneo's northeast coast, seized by troops landed from 14 transports.

Accounts of the Japanese operation at Tarakan agreed that a force of six large cruisers and six destroyers supported the fleet of transports, and covered the landings which were made at three separate points along Tarakan's east coast Sunday morning.

The outnumbered defenders were forced back steadily. But while they continued their stubborn resistance other units carried out the prearranged destruction of the oil wells.

Ironically, the insufferable heat of the oil well fires was a factor in the final surrender of the garrison Monday morning. Only a few defenders were said to have escaped to the mainland of Borneo.

The munitions supply of the Netherlands East Indies against the Japanese not only is abundant but is distributed in scores of dumps buried in deep jungle and impossible to discover by the minutest air photographs, a returned inspection party reported today.

JAPS PLEDGE CARE FOR WAR PRISONERS

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Japan has told the United States that all captured Americans would be accorded the good treatment specified in the International Convention on Prisoners of War.

Although Japan's delegates signed the convention adopted by 47 nations at Geneva in 1929 the pact was never ratified by the Japanese government. The pledge made through the Swiss government—was the first official information received concerning the treatment to be accorded American prisoners of war in the Far East.

Soon after Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, Washington sent word through the Swiss government that the American government would live up to the prisoners pact and provide good treatment, food and prison camp quarters for all Japanese captured.

BUREAU SET UP

Marc Peter, former Swiss minister to Washington, now a delegate of the International Red Cross committee, said after conferring with Secretary Hull that Japan had established a prisoners-of-war information bureau in Tokyo.

A similar American bureau to handle all questions concerning prisoners-of-war has been established here.

The prisoners' bureaus will provide the International Red Cross committee central office in Geneva with lists of casualties and prisoners as soon as possible. Peter said that no lists had yet been provided by either the United States or Japan.

NO LISTS YET

While no official lists have been made public it is known that a number of Americans have already been captured by the Japanese, including marines from Tientsin, Wake and Guam; the crew of an American gunboat seized at Shanghai; and an undisclosed number who may have been taken prisoners during the Japanese operations in the Philippines.

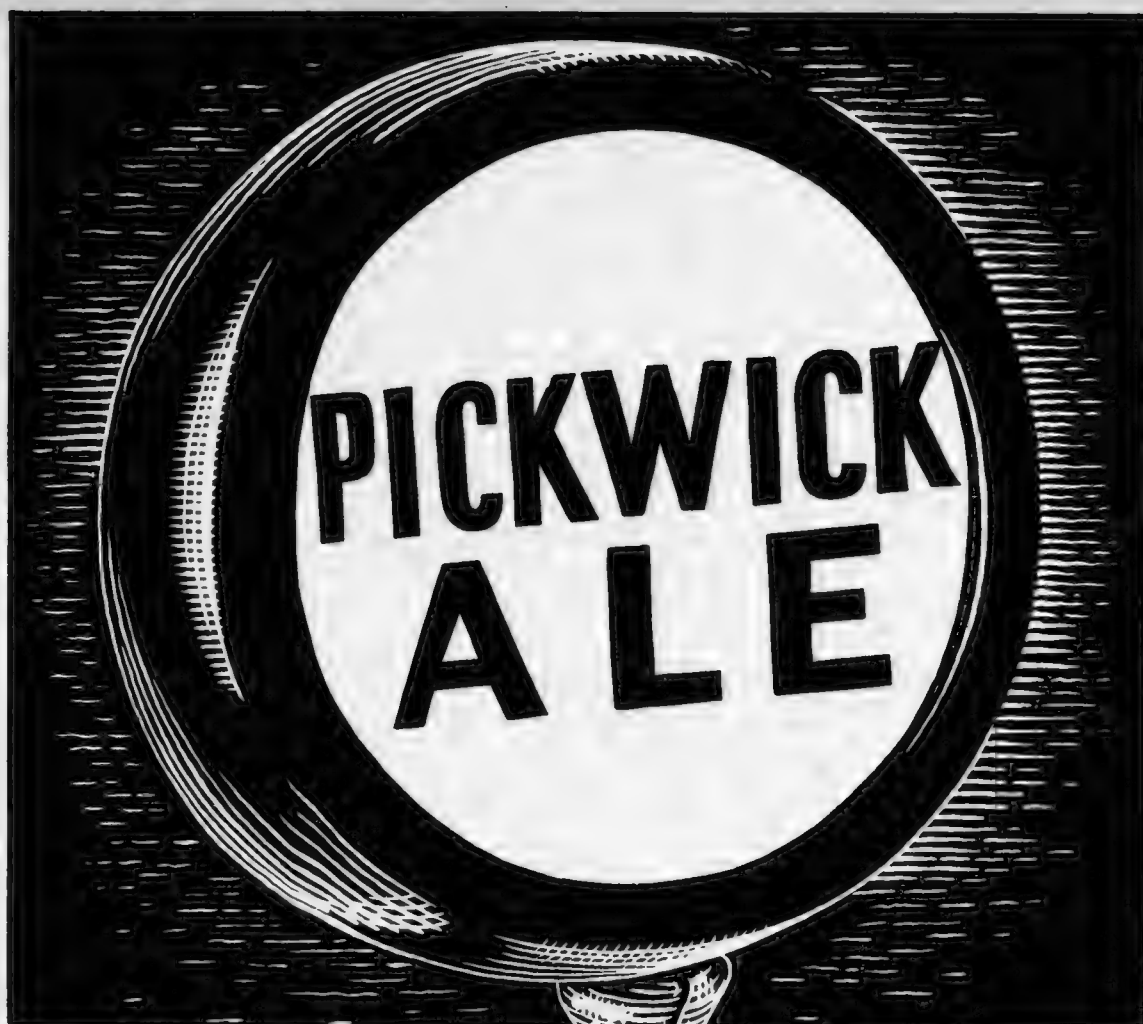

At least 600 American civilians employed in construction work on Wake and Guam also have been taken prisoner. Only a few Japanese prisoners are reported to have been taken by the American forces in Hawaii and the Philippines, but the War Department—anticipating future action—is arranging establishment of prisoner-of-war camps in this country.

12 Duke, Wally Friend Blacklisted by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The multi-millionaire Swedish financial operator, Axel Wenner-Gren, was put on the State Department's war blacklist today just as he was considering formation of a $100,000,000 syndicate in Mexico.

The fabulous Swede, who numbers Greta Garbo and the Duke and Duchess of Windsor among his friends, appeared under the headings Mexico and Peru in an addition of 1800 individuals and firms to the blacklist. The list is made up of those the State Department deems "to be acting for the benefit" of the enemy or those to whom the export of various goods might be detrimental to American defense.

TERRIBLE MISTAKE

An associate of Wenner-Gren's said in Mexico that the industrialist was "by no stretch of the imagination an Axis sympathizer" and that the blacklisting was "a terrible mistake." Wenner-Gren was said to be in Vera Cruz to meet his wife on her return from the Bahamas, where he has a mansion, Shangri-La.

His activities in Mexico came to light last Nov. 23 when Gen. Maximino Ovila Camacho, communications minister, disclosed that Wenner-Gren was looking into the possibilities of a syndicate to invest more than $100,000,000 in that country.

SAVED SHIP SURVIVORS

Avila Camacho said then that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor were to visit Mexico as Wenner-Gren's guests some time in January, traveling aboard the Swedish industrialist's yacht, the Southern Cross. The Windsors had used the Southern Cross once before for a crossing from Nassau to Miami, Fla., for a dental operation for the Duchess.

The richly-appointed 1851-ton vessel was among ships which rescued survivors of the British steamer Athenia, torpedoed in the North Atlantic Sept. 3, 1939, the day the British-German war began. Since then it has appeared at various ports in the Western Hemisphere. Wenner-Gren and his wife sailed on the Southern Cross last July to Peru, where he had sponsored an archaeological expedition.

For a time during the military stalemate before the battle of France Wenner-Gren's name cropped up in rumors of peace negotiations, but nothing came of the reports.

In its new blacklist the State Department for the first time names individuals and firms outside the Western Hemisphere. Individuals and firms in Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey are included.

JAP DRIVE—As British and Jap forces faced each other (broken line) about 100 miles northwest of Singapore, invading troops were reported to have landed in the Rhio archipelago.

HE'S ON UNCLE SAM'S BLACKLIST—Axel Wenner-Gren, shown with his wife (inserts), is on State Department's blacklist today as he was considering the formation of a $100,000,000 syndicate in Mexico. EYEWITNESS STORY OF BIG BATTLE IN SKY AT SINGAPORE advance down the Malay peninsula toward Singapore is straining the facilities of this city.

The housing situation was difficult enough before the outbreak of the war in the Pacific; now it is acute.

Due to farsighted planning, however, the city has an ample supply of the basic foods—flour, rice and meat—for some period, but the loss of agricultural areas in central Malaya has reduced the vegetable supply.

To meet this shortage, the authorities are pushing a scheme to take over and seed open spaces on the island of Singapore and the southern part of Johore, the only one of the native states not yet occupied or penetrated by the Japanese.

FEW IDLE PERSONS

Singapore has few idle persons today, no matter what race or nationality.

Chinese and Indian communities are supplying the labor for essential services.

Many Chinese have volunteered for the military auxiliary services and there are few adults who are not doing regular work with the local defense corps, air raid precautions units or other wartime organizations.

Younger Britons have been on full-time duty with the volunteer corps since a week before the outbreak of the war. Older men, most of whom are in the uniform of one or another of the passive defense units, carry on their normal business between air alarms.

Numbers of Indian women and children left Singapore for their homeland and European women, especially those with children, are leaving the city whenever shipping is available.

Rome Says Japs Take Islands Near Singapore

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Exchange Telegraph said today it had recorded a Rome broadcast which quoted a Tokyo report that Japanese forces had landed on an island of the Rhio archipelago, south of Singapore.

The report said Japanese moving down the eastern coast of the Malay peninsula had outflanked the town of Endau, just north of the Johore-Pahang border, and that its fall was imminent. Endau is about 100 miles north of Singapore. (The Rhio archipelago is a group of Dutch-owned islands at the eastern end of the Malacca strait between the southern tip of Malaya and Sumatra. The northernmost of the Rhio group is separated from Singapore only by the narrow Singapore strait. The largest and most exposed, Rhio or Rhioan, is 40 miles south-east of Singapore.)

442 GUAM PRISONERS IN JAPAN CAMP

TOKYO, Jan. 15 (Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—The prisoners' intelligence bureau announced 442 persons captured at the United States island of Guam, including Capt. George J. McMillin, the governor, arrived at Shikoku today and were interned at barracks in the city of Zentsu.

Domei said the prisoners included 142 marines, eight of them officers and 41 non-commissioned officers; 150 Navy men, four of them officers, five nurses and a number of civilians.

The news agency said 10 United States Navy petty officers had surrendered to Japanese forces in the Gilbert Islands and were taken to an internment camp on Shikoku, one of the four principal Japanese islands.

(The Japanese broadcast did not indicate what United States Navy men might have been doing in the Gilbert Islands, a British mandate between Hawaii and Australia.)

(There have been no specific accounts of Japanese landings in the islands, but the British colonial office said several weeks ago that Japanese forces were believed operating in that area and expressed fears for the safety of British nationals on the islands.)

Chinese Chase 10,000 Japs

Official News

By C. E. GRAHAM

International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHUNGKING, Jan. 15—Ten thousand Japanese survivors of the Changsha debacle were pursued by Chinese troops north of the Milo river today as Chinese newspapers reopened their demands for a full-scale Chinese offensive against Thailand and Indo-China.

The Milo river, a military spokesman said, is filled with corpses, while on its shores are the remains of funeral pyres hastily built to dispose of the dead, many of whom froze to death. The Japs, he said, lost six-sevenths of their effectives.

The Communist newspaper China Daily News urged immediate reinforcements by Great Britain and the United States for the Burma Road.

The disaster which overtook Nippon's forces at the Milo was disclosed in an official dispatch.

"The Japanese troops, desperately attempting to cross the Milo, stampeded," said the communiqué. "Hundreds drowned. Others, emerging exhausted from the icy waters, froze to death on the river banks."

for an over-all planning agency, with one-man control of production. This recommendation was approved before President Roosevelt made Donald M. Nelson war production chief.

OPA LACKED POWER

In asserting that OPM, headed by William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, has failed, the committee conceded that OPM was advisory and lacked real power to act.

"But, fundamentally, the disappointing record of the OPM management is not so much due to its lack of power as to its failure to perform the functions for which it was created," the report said.

Use of dollar-a-year men was assailed, the committee declaring that they become lobbyists for big business in award of contracts. OPM also was assailed for failure to remedy shortages in steel, aluminum and other metals.

Despite its criticism, the committee said that Mr. Roosevelt's goal of production of $58,000,000 in one year can be achieved.

SHIP PROGRAM FAILS

The committee said the Maritime Commission had failed to reach its goal of a ship-a-day by Jan. 1, 1942, due to lack of shipyard facilities, steel and machinery. It declared that cost of building ships is high but added that, on the whole, the Maritime Commission has done a good job. The Navy was praised for handling of defense housing.

The report criticized the OPM and the automobile industry for failure to convert to war production. It declared that the dollar value of defense articles delivered by the "big three" automobile manufacturers from Sept. 1, 1939, to Dec. 31, 1941, was but $404,612,000.

Argentina May Swing to U. S. Program

By JOHN MCKNIGHT

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 13 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles of the United States and Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu of Argentina consulted for 25 minutes today and success or failure of the Pan-American conference at hand may have been bound up in that meeting.

The two met in the Argentine's hotel room and, leaving the place separately, they withheld precise comment on their talk. Argentina has shown signs of holding out against any general Pan-American breach of relations with the Axis. Welles left Ruiz Guinazu's hotel room smiling. He said he had had "a cordial and pleasant conversation with my old friend, the foreign minister of Argentina."

Welles and Ruiz Guinazu are the heads of their nation's delegations to the third consultative conference of foreign ministers of the Pan American Republics. Their OSWALDO Aranha, Brazilian foreign minister, presided at a preliminary session this morning.

"In the hour of risk and danger, individuals the same as states may know who are their real friends," Aranha told the press. "I am sure the attack on America will show the world its people are not merely friends but brothers."

Welles seemed in a jovial mood as he took his seat between the representatives of Brazil and Bolivia, directly facing Ruiz Guinazu across the conference table.

talk was in the nature of a preliminary consultation.

The delegates were eagerly awaiting an address by Welles.

The third meeting of Pan-American foreign ministers since 1939 found 10 of the 21 republics at war. Looming large as obstacles to unanimous and effective action were Ecuador's surprise insistence on obtaining settlement of her 100-year-old boundary dispute with Peru before doing anything else, and Argentina's announced refusal to enter into any military alliances or "acts of pre-belligerence."

AXIS BLASTS MALTA IN 1250TH RAID

By LARRY MEIER

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 15—Axis air raiders today were waging an all-out effort to obliterate the little island of Malta as a source of British power in the Mediterranean.

At 1 p. m. yesterday Malta, the most heavily air-raided island in the world, chalked up its 107th air raid since Jan. 1. It has withstood 1250 air attacks since the war began—270 since the start of the present major offensive.

All reports to London from Malta indicate the people of the island are standing up bravely under the terrific and almost ceaseless aerial pounding in Axis effort to render Malta useless and untenable.

This air bombardment has assumed the proportions of a full-scale assault and an attempted land invasion is not expected unless the sky offensive fails.

Authorities in London pointed out the Axis would have little to gain by actual occupation of Malta, since from their point of view they already are in possession of better bases.

But a sea-borne invasion may come, it was predicted, if the constant air raids fail to put defenders out of action.

Between attacks, during which they listen to probably the world's fiercest and most concentrated anti-aircraft barrages, the people lead an almost normal life.

Farmers and peasants work in the fields to supply the population of 250,000 and the considerable service garrisons with fruits and vegetables.

There is no lack of food, according to reports, although certain essentials are rationed. Islanders have been conscripted to maintain essential services.

The soft rock shelters in which a large percentage of the population is able to take cover are constantly being enlarged.

Barrage Aids Move to New Lines in Egypt

CAIRO, Jan. 15 (AP)—British Imperial and Allied infantry have moved forward to new positions against the Axis holdout forces in the Halfaya border region of Egypt, facing Libya, under cover of a destructive aerial and artillery bombardment, British Middle East headquarters announced today.

Reduction of the German and Italian border positions, a thrust in the flank of the British offensive now more than 300 miles inside Libya, would release sizeable British Imperial and Allied forces for the drive westward toward El Agheila and Tripoli.

The British said the advance in the coastal sector toward El Agheila was delayed "in difficult country by strong resistance from defended localities" in the Gasal El Brega sector, but that farther south the forward movement continued.

Chinese Units Set in Burma
 14 RANGOON, Burma, Jan 15 (AP)—Chinese army advance units have reached points in Burma from which an offensive against Japanese-held territory ultimately may be developed, it was disclosed today.
 A communique said that "preparations for co-operation with China are well in hand. Liaison between Chinese and British staffs proceeds."

The possibility that the Japanese may attempt simultaneous attacks on Singapore and Burma is recognized by military circles here, but they gave assurance that defensive preparations for such an eventuality are being made as well as the longer range development of striking power.

RUSS CLOSE IN ON 100,000 NAZIS IN TRAP

By the Associated Press

Russian shock troops were reported smashing in a direct frontal assault today against 100,000 Germans massed at Mzhalsk, 57 miles west of Moscow, in what appeared to be one of the greatest and perhaps most decisive battles of the war.

Mzhalsk is the keystone of the dwindling German defense corridor on the Napoleonic road from Moscow to Smolensk.
 The British radio said a savage battle was raging at the gates of Mzhalsk and that "one key position is said to have changed hands several times."

Other Red forces, slowly closing a giant trap around Mzhalsk, were officially reported to have recaptured the town of Medyn, 35 miles to the southwest.

NAZIS' WAY OUT CLOSING
 This meant the Germans now had only a 70-mile-wide escape route from Mzhalsk, with Soviet troops pressing down from Volokolamsk in the north and Medyn in the south. Volokolamsk is 35 miles north of Mzhalsk.

A bulletin from Hitler's high command, tersely noting "defensive battles" on the Moscow and Leningrad fronts, acknowledged the Russians were making a new drive along the Sea of Azov toward Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov-on-Don.

The offensive was termed "un-succesful."
 The Berlin radio admitted Russian reinforcements for the new battle of the Crimea were landing at Feodosiya, on the Kerch peninsula, and said German files had bombed large Soviet shipping concentrations disembarking troops and war materials of all kinds. The Nazi high command said three Russian ships were damaged by bomb hits.

RUSS GAINS FARTHER NORTH
 On the Leningrad front German assault troops were reported to have destroyed 20 Soviet pillboxes and their gun crews in driving a 600-foot breach through Russian lines. This implied a Nazi counteroffensive launched there. By contrast the British radio reported:

"The Russians have now cleared almost the whole of the eastern bank of the River Volkhov, southeast of Leningrad, and captured a village on the west bank about 65 miles from the city."
 Berlin newspapers told again of fighting in specific zones—Mzhalsk, Kaluga, Orel, Kursk, Kharkov, Taganrog—after six weeks of dealing in generalities about the reverses set off by the retreat from Rostov.

Some European observers interpreted this to mean Hitler's eastern armies had reached a winter line—presumably based upon those cities—which they intended to hold at all costs.

However, Kaluga, 110 miles southwest of Moscow, is already in Russian hands; Mzhalsk, 57 miles west of the capital is menaced at the front and flanks, and some of the others evidently are almost within range of Soviet artillery.

Hitler 'Eats Crow' On His Anniversary

the start of the war, when he had an enormous superiority in the air, while the British were woefully deficient in first-class fighting planes.

His second mistake occurred when the Belgian army surrendered. A wide open break in the Allies' fighting front was presented to the Germans but they did not have reserves up to take advantage of it.

His third mistake came at Dunkirk, when he allowed the British to escape. He had failed to order sufficient planes to the coast to meet the desperate but deadly fighters of the R.A.F., who nonplussed the German airmen.

His fourth mistake was his failure to take advantage of the confusion in England during and immediately after Dunkirk. Then, if ever, an invasion would have succeeded.

HITLER'S FIFTH MISTAKE

His fifth mistake was to designate, boastfully, a specific time when he would be in London, dictating peace terms. The German people, therefore, expected Hitler to be leading troops through London streets on Aug. 15, 1940. Later he changed the date to mid-September. Then he was silent.

His sixth mistake (he was making a show of "generosity") was in limiting the terms of the French armistice to exclude German use of the French fleet and German occupation of the French African empire.

His seventh mistake was in allowing Mussolini a free hand in Greece and North Africa, a woeful miscalculation of Italian strength—or weakness.

However, Hitler was not through making mistakes, and on Sunday, June 22, 1941, he made a whooper when he invaded Russia.

In four to six weeks, predicted the Germans, the Russians would be crushed. Hitler would occupy the Kremlin at Moscow, the Ukrainian bread basket would feed the Nazi nation and the vast oil resources of the Caucasus fuel German planes and tanks and ships.

STAGGERING COST

This was an almost fatal miscalculation on Hitler's part. Russia staggered, but she did not fall. While the Russians gave ground, they gave every foot at a staggering cost to the German war machine, up to then almost intact.

Each Nazi blow was parried. Apparently limitless reinforcements relieved the Red fighters, whose greatest handicap was a lack of tanks and planes. When four months had gone by (not four weeks) the Germans still had not achieved their goal, and what they had won was scorched earth. The Reds stalled until first the mud came and then the snow and cruel cold, which halted motorized equipment in its tracks. The Russian army turned on Hitler and his legions, as the Russians of old turned on Napoleon and his hordes more than a century ago.

Hitler had made another blunder

—that of not sending the Japanese against the Russians on the East last summer, while he was engaging them on the West.

BATTLE TIDE TURNS

Having committed that, he proceeded to commit another some time in November, when the tide definitely had turned in Russia. He gave the word for Japan to move against the United States, and the Jap submarines and warships and airplane carriers slipped down across the Pacific for the sneak attack on Hawaii that came Dec. 7.

Japan's entry into the war was a diversion which Hitler hoped would halt American aid to Britain and Russia; which possibly would pull Allied troops out of Libya and Allied warships out of the Mediterranean; which would move the United States to leave the Atlantic and concentrate her efforts in the Pacific.

It did none of those things, but it did bring the United States down on Hitler as an added burden, and one which will break his back eventually and free enslaved Europe.

Yes—it will be interesting indeed to hear what Hitler has to say to his German people on next Jan. 30.

MALAYAN WAR SCENE CHANGE NOW INDICATED

By MAJ. GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

On the Malay peninsula the disquieting British retirements go on. The week has seen the Japanese enter the city of Kuala Lumpur, capital of the Federated Malay States. Of these states only Johore, at the tip of the peninsula, now remains wholly in British hands.

Criticism is being voiced in the British and Australian press. This may be justified, probably is so in part, as most observers seem to think. But there are certain facts which, while by no means conducive to over optimism, may presently bring about a change in the Malaysian picture.

Maj. G. F. Eliot

There are indications that air re-enforcements are reaching Singapore and in Burma strong Allied forces are gathering in a position in which they might well succeed in cutting the rail and road communications of the Japanese army on the Malay peninsula.

SUB MAY AFFECT RIO

There is, however, no assurance that these forces are yet in any position to do anything but raid, by air and by land patrol. Moreover, the intervening terrain is extremely difficult and almost roadless.

Some observers believe that as long as the demands of the Russian front continue to increase, a German attack on Turkey appears out of the question.

Similar considerations do not apply to a possible German move through Spain against Gibraltar and perhaps Morocco. This has long been anticipated. The strategic advantages to be gained might be considerable, especially by diversion of Allied naval and air forces to the South Atlantic and a Nazi threat to the South American nations now participating in the Pan-American conference at Rio.

Military considerations are said to affect this conference. Well informed circles believe that strong and unified action by the conference in support of the United States against the Axis depends upon the ability of the United States deletion to convince the South Americans that the Axis cannot win. It is quite possible that the beginning of Axis submarine warfare reported today in American coastal waters is not unconnected with this fact. Of course, these submarine attacks cannot, because of distance, do any great material harm, but if they can compel us to convey all our coastwise shipping and delay the movement of vital material they may prove of great consequence.

ROMMEL EXPECTS AID

The Russian front shows a somewhat brighter picture. Here the Russians have continued their enveloping operations around Moshansk, west of Moscow, where strong German forces are still encircled. They have cut the main roads from Bryansk to Vyasma, two key points in the reported German winter line.

They have begun to raise the siege of Leningrad and the whole German position at that front seems to be greatly imperilled by the reported Russian capture of Serayarsa, south of Lake Ilman.

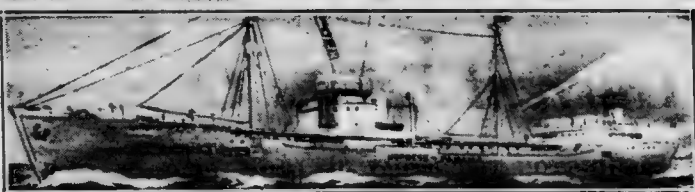

In the Crimea the Russian troops are reported only 10 miles from the Karelian Isthmus which connects the Crimean peninsula with the mainland.

In Africa, the Axis forces of Gen. Rommel are withdrawing from Agadabia under cover of bad weather and are making another stand at El Agheila. Obviously, Rommel is fighting a delaying action. He must expect help to come from somewhere, else he would be inclined to withdraw as fast as he could toward Tripoli. The quarter from which he hopes for aid may be indicated by the repeated air attacks on the British island of Malta. These may be followed up by parachute and troop carrier attack.

Tokyo Says 4 Ships Sunk, 3 Captured

TOKYO, Jan. 15 (Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—Japanese submarines operating in Netherlands East Indies waters sank four ships, while a naval surface squadron captured three cargo vessels, an Imperial headquarters communique said today.

At the same time it announced that Japanese naval units in co-operation with air forces sank two enemy submarines Jan. 9.

NAVY HUNTS U-BOAT RAIDER OFF COAST

pool, Key West and Trinidad before transferring to Panamanian registry. She was bound from Panama City for an undesignated port when attacked.

Last Nov. 20, when arriving from Curacao, Netherlands West Indies, with a cargo of oil, she ran aground on the mud flats of upper New York bay, but was taken off safely.

This closest blow at the Atlantic coast by enemy warcraft since U. S. entry into the present war came on the heels of a Navy announcement that hostile submarines were ranging "pretty well up and down the east coast."

It was the second attack in nearly two weeks on Atlantic waters in as many days. A large steamship, presumably British, was torpedoed 150 miles off Nova Scotia Tuesday with a reported loss of some 90 lives.

BELIEVED BIG U-BOAT

Maritime experts assumed that yesterday's raider was a German U-boat, since there has been no publicly known instance of any Italian undersea activity north of the Spanish coast region.

They expressed the belief the submersible was either of the 740-ton class or perhaps one of the few 1060-tonners German was listed as having in the latest official compilations.

Since the crew of a 740-tonner would take a terrific beating physically and have only the narrowest of safety margins in fuel, the consensus was that it was one of the larger Nazi subs which attacked the tanker.

While the smaller undersea craft boast six 21-inch torpedo tubes as against only two carried by the 1060-ton vessels, the latter are equipped for mine-laying and can carry a crew of about 55 for a distance of from 4000 to 5000 miles—at least 15 more men and 1000 more miles for a cruising range.

In addition to the torpedo tubes, both types, as well as a third and still smaller 712-ton class of U-boats, carry one 4.1-inch deck gun and two one-pound anti-aircraft guns.

The bold approach of the enemy craft to the United States mainland recalled similar events during the last World War, one of the most spectacular of which took place on the warm Sunday of June 21, 1918.

On that day, in full view of bathers and picnickers at Orleans, on Cape Cod, a U-boat rose to the surface through a torrent of foam and methodically shelled a tugboat, sank three barges and as a parting gesture, fired three shells at the cottage-lined shore.

During that summer of 1918, from May through September, more than a score of steamers and sailing craft, mainly of American registry, went to the bottom off the North Atlantic coast with German torpedo wounds.

The four-masted schooner Edward H. Cole was sunk on June 2, 1918, 50 miles southeast of Barnegat, N. J., and during that one day, off the New Jersey coast, the Germans barged a total of six vessels of varying sizes.

Before the last war, Oct. 17, 1916, the German submarine U-53 gave Newport residents their greatest thrill by slipping into Newport Harbor, entertaining visitors on deck and negotiating for the mailing of a letter to the German ambassador at Washington.

Filipinos Face Jap Rifle Squad

Manila, and would prolong its ability to hold out.

In seeking to appraise the extent of Filipino fifth column activity, the capital noted that every time the Japanese have attacked since MacArthur fell back on the Bataan peninsula they have found themselves without the advantage of surprise.

Instead, American and Filipino troops have been waiting to meet them — "in previously prepared positions," as the War Department discloses dryly.

The Filipino resistance to Japan's "new order" apparently is manifesting itself in other covert and open ways to judge by the lengthy list of death-penalty "acts detrimental to the security of the Japanese armed forces."

Both the official Tokyo radio and a copy of the enemy regulations obtained by MacArthur indicate that Japan, the great imitator, was copying the harsh, repressive methods which the Nazis have applied so unsparringly in the occupied countries of Europe.

There was even provision for the familiar hostage technique, which the British have dubbed "the crime without a name." The War Department reported last night that the Japanese had warned all residents of the islands that anyone injuring or attempting to injure an enemy soldier or civilian would be shot at once.

Current Events Opinions Saved

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY—The Library of Congress, with the help of people throughout the country who have recording machines, has been gathering some interesting material on the opinions of people on the "state of the nation" at the present moment.

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Collins, from North Carolina, and various other people from the Library of Congress, spent half a hour playing records for me.

I must say it was extraordinarily interesting to hear men of the farm, factory, the small town and the big city, voicing their opinions in a manner which will really make history seem alive in the future. I hope something can be done to get these records before the public now.

On Monday afternoon, I opened the "Miles of Dimes" on the corner of Fourteenth Street, and was followed by the commissioners of the district. And so, the first activity of the District of Columbia's fight against infantile paralysis has begun.

THAT AFTERNOON, I also went to the Newspaper Women's Club, where the Chinese Ambassador gave me a cup of tea from a most interesting copper stove. It is similar to the old Dutch stoves, which not only radiate heat, but keep the water on the top at the boiling point.

Last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Adamie and my cousin, Mr. Monroe Douglas Robinson, who is just back from Peru, dined with us and then went with Miss Thompson and me to the concert given by the Philadelphia orchestra. Mr. Arturo Toscanini conducted and it was a wonderful evening.

I KEPT REMEMBERING a picture I had seen in the papers of Mr. Toscanini being photographed and examined as he went from state to state, and I must say this situation seems to me rather tragic.

There is an element of comedy, however, in suggesting that Mr. Toscanini needs this to be classified.

I spent a good part of the morning today at the Tolani committee hearing, where Mayor LaGuardia and Dean Landis testified, and where my testimony was followed by Administrator McNutt's.

Fortunately, I have only a few appointments at the office today, so I shall be able to catch up on the morning's mail this afternoon. I shall also make a brief address at the Congressional Club, where the wives of members of Congress have asked me to come to suggest ways in which they can make their best contribution to civilian defense.

B. U. Co-eds Keen For Joining Army

The pending Congressional bill which would draft women for service, approved by Secretary of War Stimson, is strongly favored by Boston University co-eds, according to a poll conducted by the News student newspaper.

Co-eds voted overwhelmingly in approval, the poll disclosed, and many of their comments emphasized their feeling. For example, Ophelia Cornejo, Arts College freshman, declared: "I'd like nothing better than to get at those Japs with a machine gun."

Many Friends of Both Sexes Advised for Young Girl

By Beatrice Fairfax

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

MISS FAIRFAX:

I AM A GIRL of 17 years, and my boy friend is 19. We've been going "steady" for almost a year, but we're not engaged. We are devoted to each other, but I like to make dates with some of the boys at school for dances, plays, etc. My boy friend objects, and says I should give up all these boys and go with him only.

Do you think I ought to give up their friendship, and go only with my special boy friend? He graduated from high school last year, I have another year to go.

IN DOUBT.

It's a big mistake to give up all your boy schoolmates just because one jealous youth asked you to do so. You're not engaged and you tell me you do go occasionally to school affairs with other boys. These "closed corporations" among very young people are a mistake and always end in quarrels. My advice is to have all the friends of both sexes you can, and enjoy yourself while you're young. There's plenty of time to be tied down to one man when you're engaged or married to him.

Can a Married Woman Ever Feel Certain?

Many married women take unnecessary risks with their nerves, health, happiness. Why? Generally because feminine hygiene is considered too personal to be discussed. And so, many women use over-strong solutions of acids for the douche which can actually burn, scar and even desensitize delicate tissue.

Today such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful, it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal daintiness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your drugstore today.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

BOSTON DOWAGERS got quite a chuckle out of Jan Kiepura, the Metropolitan Opera star, who sang at the Morning Musicales at the Hotel Statler yesterday. . . The musical mornings are usually pretty serious, cultural affairs but fun-loving Mr. Kiepura turned out to be as much of a comic as a tenor . . .

As a pleasant change from the more sober vocalists, Mr. Kiepura got his program off to a popular start by singing the familiar "Celeste Aida" instead of the usual vocal callisthenics which stump everyone but the music critics . . .

A movie star as well as a gifted opera star, he did a bit of clowning with his singing . . . the more the ladies applauded the more he obliged wit hold favorite songs . . .

Receiving a grand welcome from all the subscribers was Mrs. John W. Myers, chairman of the concert, who has missed most of this year's series due to illness of one or another of her family . . . She happily reported that all are now well on the road to recovery, and sported a huge orchid corsage to celebrate . . .

Mrs. Henry S. Howes of Marlborough at, wearing a deep blue wool dress and toque under her sable stole, occupied her usual seat way down front, and after the concert was hostess at a small luncheon at the Ritz for a few of her Fall River friends . . . Her guests included Miss Margaret Brayton, Mrs. Frank Albrow, Mrs. Benjamin Read, Mrs. Delano Ryder and Mrs. Frank Ferrin whose home is in Newton . . .

Mrs. Sam Warren added a military touch to her Persian coat with a Persian lamb hat made on the lines of a soldier's overseas cap . . . her dress was a brilliant model of flame crepe embroidered with gold lame . . . Another bright touch among all the dark furs and winter ensembles was Mrs. John Lawrence's vivid emerald green wool with a jeweled belt and topped by a gold fife adorned with gold and brown feathers . . .

Mrs. Herbert L. . . . Inkhams drove up from Brockton to perform her usual duties as hostess at the head of the ballroom stairs . . . Mrs. William Dana Orcutt was on hand for the concert, too, as was Mrs. William E. Ladd with a pretty beaver bow under her chin. Mrs. Henry K. White, Mrs. Thomas Chaffin, Mrs. George G. Crocker, Jr., Mrs. Walter Van Kleek, Mrs. Sam Elliot, Mrs. Robert T. P. Storer, Mrs. Harold Willis, Jr., with her mother, Mrs. Stephen B. Ames; Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. Julian Leonard, Mrs. John Moseley Abbott, whose brown mink and velvet hat was inspired by an aviator's cap (it fitted the crown of her head and had points over the ears which ended in a chin strap); Dottie O'Day, Patricia Phelan, Sally Reed, and Mrs. Sewell Fessenden . . .

IT'S ALWAYS a problem to remember all the kind friends who have sent you wedding presents . . . particularly if you are several thousand miles from where the presents are and you've lost your gift book . . .

That's the spot the young Philip Orcutt is in . . . They are enjoying a prolonged honeymoon trip to the West Coast and Rocky Mountains, and in recent letters to their parents tell of having had some luggage stolen . . . The most serious loss in the wedding book containing descriptions of their gifts and the names of kind friends who have yet to receive letters of acknowledgement . . . Now their problem is to remember which friends are due a bread and butter letter and hoping that no one will be offended by receiving a belated acknowledgement . . .

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD CARY WILLIAMS leaving Emmanuel Church following their marriage yesterday afternoon. The bride is the former Helen Appleton Knowles, daughter of Mr. Robert W. Knowles of Marlborough st. Bridegroom is a member of the senior class at Harvard.

Brilliant Turnout Sees Helen Knowles Married

WHEN a popular young couple like Helen Knowles and Richard Cary Williams get married the reception has all the aspects of a deb party, with a stag line and all the fixins. Seldom have so many young people, especially Harvardians, turned out in force for a Boston wedding, which is a tribute to the popularity of yesterday's bride and groom.

Many of Helen's sister debs of last winter were among the guests who greeted the radiant couple in the receiving line, and Dick's senior classmates at Harvard were also well represented in the large group of young stalwarts attending the festivities.

At the ceremony at Emmanuel Church, post deb Elizabeth Sears was intensely interested in all the proceedings for she has just joined the ranks of brides-to-be with announcement of her engagement to Benjamin Gardiner.

She was accompanied by her fiancé, and by her younger sister, Sally, who wore a modish black dress with pale blue faille collar and cuffs edged with tiny black lace ruffles. Her black pompadour bonnet had clusters of blue flowers over each ear and to complete the ensemble she wore blue gloves.

Diana Bird, who sat way down front on the side reserved for the bride's friends, wore a black ensemble with a small velvet turban which had clusters of ermine tails on each side. She attended with Mrs. Chandler Hovey, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Meyer. Debutante Jenny McKean wore a becoming purple and fuchsia costume and Mrs. Herbert Jaques, Jr., was in a slim pleated dress of greenish-blue wool with a matching hat and London squirrel jacket. She walked over to the reception at the Knowles' Marlborough st. home with her sister-in-law Mrs. Brimley Hall. Mrs. Robert Knowles, mother of the bride, carried a sable muff and wore purple orchids on the shoulder of her slim beige dress.

Mrs. William S. Feibiger and her daughter, Ethel, attended together as did Mrs. Allan Forbes and her daughter Mrs. Tudor Leland. The latter wore another of her good looking daytime costumes, of luggage tan wool with a matching purse, brown fur jacket and dashing trimmed hat of deep green. Also among the fashionable guests was Mrs. John Tuckerman who stood in the back of the church to arrange the bride's train and veil before the latter started down the aisle on the arm of her brother, Robert Knowles.

Mrs. George Saltonstall West sat with Mr. Richard Ely Danielson and other prominent guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich, Mrs. Edward Taft, William Sumner Appleton, Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Mrs. Watson Dickerman, Sally Cole, Bob Bacon, Mary Amory, Mrs. George Putnam, Mrs. Arthur Calfee, Mrs. Samuel Warren and Amy Eshleman.

SIGHT FOR SOULS

By Elsie Robinson

"AND as Jesus passed by He saw a man which was blind from birth . . . And Jesus spat upon the ground and made clay of the spittle, and He anointed the eyes of the blind man with clay, and said unto him, 'Go, wash in the pool of Siloam' . . . He went his way therefore and washed, and came seeing."
—John IX, 1, 6, 7.

April Sunday . . . with a bee bumbling in at the open window, and little yellow roses, cinnamon sweet, tumbling in a golden drift across the sill. But what had all that to do with a blind man, cured and gone again three hundred years.

A curious notion, I thought to myself, sleepy young head nodding over the blurring words. And not a very nice one! Spittle and clay smeared on darkened eyes—ugh! Bible days saw funny ways, I decided, transferring my attention to that gypsy bee. What had blindness to do with life on an April morning?

How soon—how terribly soon—I was to learn the answer to that question. So soon to see deeper darkness than that on which Christ laid His pitying hand creeping over the golden morning of a life.

Darkness of fears I had never suspected, in my young confidence—darkness of grief I had not known existed.

Darkness, too, of my willfulness and conceit, stupidity and intolerance, spreading like a black murk over the prospect that had seemed so free and fair.

AS YOU READ, you are remembering, too, aren't you? Remembering your own life, and how the days dimmed and darkened for you. How, overnight, shock and disillusion fell like a pall across your joyful young vision.

And, remembering, the old bitterness comes back, doesn't it? For why should life be so sad like that so cruelly soon? If, in time, the darkness had lifted.

But it never quite has, has it?

Never again shimmered and glowed as it did on that far, first morning—intoxicating you with its wild sweetness, luring you with its gypsy voices. Instead, it has grown steadily dimmer, duller.

Life? What a miserable mockery it has turned out to be, with your blinded heart fumbling helplessly for a gladness it cannot find.

BUT IT CAN! The SAME miracle—SAME cure! But how? How was he cured, that other blind man? In the only way that blind men of the soul can ever be cured. "And Jesus spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and anointed the eyes of the blind man with clay."

Not out of rare unguent or magical philtres was that healing ointment wrought, but out of the common clay. Out of the saving spittle of human sympathy—the simple substance of everyday experience—the cleansing water of the common pool of joy and sorrow, pride and humiliation, in which all men bathe—out of these simple commonplace things God wrought the healing salve by which a man's sick sight was restored.

All you need to make you "see again" is to feel God's hand laid upon your darkened eyes as once it laid at your birth.

OUR DAILY CITATION: To all the men, women and children of America who are collecting waste paper and scrap metal for national defense. While guns boom on the war front these patriots are keeping the wheels of industry turning on the home front.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The heroism of General MacArthur and his men, holding back the invading hordes from Japan on the strategic island of Luzon, thrills and inspires you. They are doing their duty, Are YOU doing YOURS?

NEWSPAPER advertising is vital to our national economy and morale, and it can assist tremendously in creating and maintaining the dauntless spirit which will hasten the day of victory and peace for America.

This was the message Mr. Elton Borton, chairman of the board of the Advertising Federation of America, brought to Boston Tuesday, when he addressed members and friends of the Advertising Club.

Pointing out that the British Government has been the biggest advertiser in English newspapers since the start of the war, Mr. Borton said:

"We must tell people through our advertising how to make scarce articles last longer, how to buy better, how to use goods made of materials not needed for defense.

"We must help to find and to promote substitution as we prepare people for shortages.

"We must assist the public to understand and to adjust itself to war merchandising conditions, just as we must also assist business to realize its share in this national emergency."

Mr. Borton told how merchants and business men in England carried on through blackout and bombing, through blood and sacrifice, and urged that Americans have the same resolute determination.

"War is costly," he explained. "We face a war cost up to forty or fifty billions of dollars a year. A small part of that can be raised by taxes, but most must come by borrowing from our citizens.

"In either case, commercial or industrial, life must go on as far as is consistent with our war effort—or there will be no money for taxes or for buying defense bonds.

"Moreover, our people must live while fighting the war. They must have clothes, shoes, foods and a thousand other necessities of life.

"These articles must be manufactured or grown, transported and distributed. Civilians and soldiers must have recreation. And there must be stores to stock and sell goods.

"Consequently, business must go on—not necessarily as usual, but efficiently. And business must have advertising to inform people about goods and prices."

Mr. Borton spoke truthfully and realistically. No dreaming, theorizing or speculating in his remarks.

THE AFTER-the-wedding ceremony news picture of the marriage of cinema cutie Dorothy Darrell and Director Joe Pasternak shows Dorothy did not extend her cheek for a peck kiss but offered her lips for a real, old-fashioned "smackerino" expression of love. That was fine; but there is always room for improvement. We think Dorothy should have also thrown her arms around Joe. How about forming a society for the improvement of after-the-wedding ceremony kisses?

SIDELIGHTS: If you check on predictions file the following by Norvell, film colony star gazer: "Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer and Betty Grable will marry in 1942. Miss Grable will not marry George Raft. William Powell will be divorced." ... When in France and Italy, I acquired the habit of having a little wine with my meals and a little fruit after. And haven't given it up. Unrepaired sans vine est une journée sans soleil. (A meal without wine is a day without sun.) I put in this latter to please that old pal of mine who said: "Eddie, use a foreign phrase now and then. It gives a column class." ... "Do you think a man ever forgets a woman he has been married to for 12 years?" writes a Pittsburgher. "I can't forget the beautiful woman who was my wife for 12 years although I am married to another girl I thought I loved. I know many a man who has married again who feels about his ex-wife as I do."

PASSING BY: Puddy Smith. Only chorus girl in New York who is from Tishomingo, Okla. Miss Smith says she can hardly wait until she is married. Miss Bouvier is very easy to look at and wears a little curl right in the middle of her forehead.

BRIEFLY: Now that it is definitely known the Japs use two-man submarines, how about that flying submarine exhibited by Yesso, Japan, a few years ago by its inventor, one C. E. Tesouma? This flying sub, about nine yards long, was said to be able to carry four torpedoes and sink a warship from below or above. ... Once asked to name "The 10 best" American plays, George M. Cohan made the following choice: 1—"Arizona" by Augustus Thomas. 2—"Secret Service" by William Gillette. 3—"The Gilded Fool" by Henry Guy Carleton. 4—"The Fortune Hunter" by Winchell Smith. 5—"The First Year" by Frank Craven. 6—"Salome Jane" by Bret Harte and Paul Armstrong. 7—"Beyond the Horizon" by Eugene O'Neill. 8—"Icebound" by Owen Davis. 9—"On Trial" by Elmer Rice. 10—"Strange Interlude" by Eugene O'Neill.

ASIDES: Pitomaine Tommy's and Dyspeptic Bill's are the names of two popular Los Angeles restaurants. ... The number of insipid band canaries and shrieking feminine night club singers continues to increase. It may be because these singers are often chosen for their figures rather than their musical ability. In any event feminine entertainers who really know how to put over a popular song are rare. ... "So you don't like sweet as a term of endearment," writes a young matron of Los Angeles. "My husband just last night said, 'Kiss me, sweet!'" when he comes home my husband calls out "Hi, Sweets" and what a thrill it gives me" ... Chicago subscriber says his young son asked: "What is a little Eskimo with a frozen finger, Pop?" And when "Pop" said he didn't know the kid triumphantly exclaimed: "He's a frigid midget with a rigid digit."

WOMEN, ETC.: Women talk three times as much about clothes as they do about men according to the latest research. Thirty per cent of female conversation is about clothes. Ten per cent about men. So, gentlemen, I guess we are not so important as we thought. But then if it wasn't for men women wouldn't talk so much about clothes. The claim that women dress chiefly to impress other women is ridiculous. When a woman buys a hat or dress she always wonders what some one man or men in general will think of it.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Crosby Gaige says on the menu of New York's famous Hotel Knickerbocker corned beef and cabbage was priced at $1.75. Best corned beef I ever tasted was at Oliver Hitchcock's in Park Row, Manhattan, where corned beef and beans was on the menu for 20 cents. ... Experiments on a method of extracting gold from sea water continue to progress. At present it costs about $50 to get $10 worth of gold from sea water.

Suppose the scientists progress to the point where it costs much less to get gold out of the sea than it does out of a mine. How will this affect the value of all the gold the United States government has been buying and storing in Kentucky?

PLEASE NOTE: San Francisco sportscribe Abe Kemp recalls "Virginia" Carroll the courteous and colorful bookmaker who upon accepting a bet always said: "Thank you, sir. I wish you the best of luck." ... Saw Judy Garland this afternoon. She had golden brown hair last time I saw her but is now a brunette. By the way what do you call a girl with brown hair? A brownette or what? ... Sixty per cent of the Japanese air force wear spectacles. That might be no handicap. They could be a magnifying kind ... Last World War draft in the United States listed 23,908,576 men. This was 44 per cent of the male population. Of these, 6,373,414 were listed as available for service. And of the last named 2,702,687 were accepted for the Army. ... "The Japanese probably have a supply of oil to last two years," states an arm-chair general. Perhaps, but where do they keep it? Why in tanks above ground which are easily bombed? Because of the many earthquakes to which Japan is subjected underground oil tanks are not practical.

Broadway's Voice

NORA BAYES LIVES IN MEMORY

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Broadway's favorite dish is nostalgia—nostalgia salted with tears from the sentimental heart and embellished with laughter left over from some pretty yesterday. The perfect setting for the kind of reminiscing that Broadway loves is a plush night club at four in the morning. Then the shadows of the empty room seem full of pictures of things almost, but not quite, forgotten: memories sharpened, and the stillness becomes string music to fit the mood . . . There were five of us in the club that morning when we talked about a lady of a quieter era who was a great legend on Broadway—the Lady of the Fans, Nora Bayes. There were a glamorous actress, a successful playwright, a politician, a songwriter and a columnist.

THE CONVERSATION drifted into nostalgia when the actress picked up a little fan that had been lying on the table and whisked it across the tip of her nose in a coquettish gesture and said: "Isn't it silly? R—gave it to me for my birthday. He must have had Sally Rand in his mind."

THE PLAYWRIGHT: Not Sally Rand. Faith Bacon was the one with the fan. Sally switched to balloons years ago.

THE SONGWRITER: When I think of fans I think of Nora Bayes. Remember her? Remember how she used to handle those fans?

THE ACTRESS: Yes, marvelously. I remember a party at her flat in London one year—don't ask me what year!—when she tried to teach Will Rogers how to manipulate one. Will almost sprained his wrist.

THE SONGWRITER: I remember that house well—7 Park Lane. That's where I first met Noel Coward. Irving Berlin told me his stuff showed promise. He ate hungrily and insulted everyone. Before he left, he sold Nora a song for ten pounds—a comedy ditty. She didn't even look at it. She gave it to Bea Lillie as a present the next day.

THE ACTRESS: I think I know which one it was. (Sings softly) "You must be ver-ry kind to Aunt Jessie . . . She's never been a mother or a wife . . . Though her kiss is worse than death . . . You must never hold your breath . . . For charity, you know, begins at home—e!"

THE POLITICIAN: Is that why you call her Aunt Bea? . . . And before Coward was famous . . . say, that must have been years ago.

THE ACTRESS: Don't bother to figure it out.

THE SONGWRITER: You know, Nora Bayes was the original platinum blonde. Not actually blonde—her hair was prematurely white. She always wore a stagey blond wig.

THE PLAYWRIGHT: I remember how she looked. THE SONGWRITER: One afternoon the Prince of Wales visited her house with Charles Cochran and Evelyn Laye. There was a beauty, that Evelyn. Anyway, Evelyn remarked how beautiful Nora looked with her wig off and just her white hair, and the Prince of Wales—who'd never seen her without the wig—agreed. Well, at the next performance at the Palladium Nora took off the wig and asked the audience how they liked her hair. Their answer was a cheer that shook the roof.

THE POLITICIAN: "Alabama Bound" was really her last song. The last number she ever did on a stage.

THE SONGWRITER: Yes, and you remember what stage it was. It was Tom Noonan's mission down on the Bowery.

THE PLAYWRIGHT: You're kidding, of course.

THE SONGWRITER: No, I'm not. Call it hearts and flowers, but it happened. Nineteen-twenty-eight, I think it was. Nora lived on West End ave. at the time. Her doctor insisted that she go to the hospital the next day for an operation—tumor. And she agreed. About an hour later Tom Noonan phoned from his mission house and reminded her that she'd promised to sing for his derelicts the next Sunday.

THE SONGWRITER: Nora couldn't say no to him. Lou Alter, her pianist, threatened to quit if she kept the date. But she laughed at him. She went, and she sang four songs. She ended, as you said, with "Alabama Bound."

THE POLITICIAN: And it was the end. She went right from there to the operating table, but it was too late. The four days of delay meant her death.

The actress put her fan back on the table and the playwright touched a match to his cigarette, and for a moment no one spoke. They were touched by nostalgia, by an old dream; they were listening to a voice singing "Alabama Bound" away back in a faded year.

NORA BAYES

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS inscribed "Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Lewis" shortly will surprise Boston friends of the great comedian . . . The bride-to-be is beautiful and very wealthy . . . But because she is now engaged in becoming a divorcee, it is not regarded as columnizing cricket to reveal her name . . . In spite of the disastrous failure of "The Lady Comes Across," Lewis scored a tremendous personal hit . . . Joe is recognized widely as the best comedian playing the nightclub circuit, but only twice have the drama critics of New York had a chance—in line of duty—to applaud his work . . . In one way, closing of the show worked to Joe's advantage . . . He is singing the "February" song and other material he used in "The Lady Comes Across" . . . He owned the material himself—and thereby hangs a tale.

EVERYWHERE JOE E. went in Boston two unfamiliar characters streamed along in his wake . . . When the comic would be sipping Scotch and soda at a ring-side table in a Boston cabaret, these two strangers would be devastating a steak at a table directly behind his . . . When he would slip out front at the theater during rehearsals, the two would park themselves in the pew behind him . . . As he walked to and from the theater, or took a cab to a nightclub or his hotel, walking behind him or occupying a cab not far to the rear, would be the mysterious two . . . Joe would pay their checks, would lean over backwards (literally) from his ringside table to hold lengthy talks with them . . . But never did he introduce the gentlemen.

ONE NIGHT, MR. LEWIS CONFIDED finally to a few friends that the satiric duo were "his writers" . . . It also leaked out that one of them was the inspired mimic who was badgering Vernon Duke, the composer, by faking Eddie Cantor's voice and inviting Duke to visit the amazed real Mr. Cantor in Philadelphia . . . The mimic's collaborator was no amateur either in the art of ribbing . . . It was he who dreamed up most of the stunts, including the one which beguiled Author Fred Thompson into donning white tie and a tall hat to meet with a representative of the "Boston Daily Forward" . . . They were a glum-looking pair, these imps . . . But when they were identified finally to a very few of the Lewis friends as writers of his material . . .

NOW COMES NEWS OF THE PART one of these gentlemen played in saving a life . . . Calling a principal of "The Lady Comes Across" by telephone, he was connected in error with a busy line . . . What he heard sent him flying to the hotel officer . . . Fortunately, the house officer knew nothing of the lad's propensity for playing practical jokes, or that worthy might have been suspicious of the desperate story being told him . . . As it was, he acted on the tip . . . A few minutes later (and a minute later than that would have been too late), the house officer caught the ailing principal just in time to prevent a leap from a window to the pavement below . . . Yes, there was more drama behind the scenes of the tragic "The Lady Comes Across" (which cost $200,000 before it folded) than the show contained in its manuscript.

AN OUTSTANDING VIRTUOSO of the electric organ, Al de Forest of Lowell, is concertizing nightly in the Copley Square's grill . . . And the subterranean oasis has become a mecca for musicians . . . There is a credible chance, the musicians say, that de Forest will be hailed as the best player of an electric organ in the entire land . . . There is nothing we can recommend more heartily than a visit to the premises while he's in action . . . Here is an item of press-agency that really stands out . . . In a press biography of the temperamental Xavier Cugat, Mrs. Cugat (Carmen Castillo), is being discussed . . . "One of 23 children," the biography declares, "her mother was so beautiful that her father kept her in the house for ten years."

MGM HAS MYRNA LOY ON LONG CONTRACT

By Louella O. Parsons

Myrna Loy

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15—What goes on with our high salaried producers? First Hunt Stromberg sends in his resignation, and now Arthur Hornblow, who gave us such pictures as "Hold Back the Dawn," "Arise My Love," "I Wanted Wings" and "Ruggles of Red Gap," is parting company with Paramount. Arthur has been the pick of the haired boy at his studio, having had the pick of stories, stars, etc. He is credited with having discovered Veronique Lake, who has had reams of publicity, and to have brought those two popular stars, Bob Hope and Paulette Goddard, to fame and fortune, before he says au revoir in June he will produce a picture starring Ginger Rogers and Charles Boyer. I assume he, too, has an independent producing idea in his bonnet. His wife, Myrna Loy, has a long term contract with M-G-M, so it does not mean a Loy-Hornblow producing team as was hinted.

G. FITZGERALD

trained to be a hot shot. Walter Lang will direct with William Perleberg producing . . .

BEFORE THE WAR changed the theatrical map abroad, one of Europe's great actresses was Helene Timig (Mrs. Max Reinhardt). When we visited the Reinhardts in Salzburg in 1937 she was the star of "Every Man," and what a magnificent performance she gave as the nun. Mrs. Reinhardt is making her debut on the screen at Warners in "The Gay Sisters," and this may be the beginning of a real screen career. She plays the part of Sasken, and that reminds me—the third sister has been selected. Geraldine Fitzgerald, who hasn't made a picture since "Shining Victory," will play Evelyn Gaylord. The other two, as you know, are Barbara Stanwyck and Nancy Coleman. Gene Lockhart has also been added to the cast, as has Donald Woods, who used to be such a favorite leading man.

JOHN BARRYMORE so they say, was a sensation at the Masquers tribute dinner given for Milton Berle. John read a poem by Gene Fowler and Milton was given a life membership in the Friars Club by the Masquers.

IN THE COURSE of a conversation Rosalind Russell dropped the word that her own sister, Josephine, age twenty-two, would be wonderful as the younger sister in "My Sister Eileen." Harry Cohn lost no time in asking Rox to have her sister tested. If you saw the play you know the two girls are totally different—one is sophisticated, and although she was brought up in a small town she is wiser to the ways of the world than the younger girl. The same is true of Rosalind and her sister, Josephine—the latter of whom has spent most of her life in Waterbury, Ct. When Rox leaves in a few weeks to visit Army camps in the east she will probably bring her sister back to Hollywood.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Hoot Gibson, one-time western hero, back in town at the Band Box with Kay Sabich; Carol Bruce and Jack Warner, Jr., who looks exactly like his dad, Jack Sr., dining at the Brown Derby; Glenda Farrell has sold her house in the valley to George (Gabby) Hayes, Gene Autry's sidekick; Barbara Hutton Keventlow is giving a party Saturday night to celebrate the joint birthdays of Cary Grant and Constance Moore. Garbo, believe it or not, is at this moment in New York. So is Dr. Gaylor Hauser; Dorothy Lamour has done such great work selling defense bonds that when she comes back Paramount will send out Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd; David Hopkins, son of Harry Hopkins, at Arrowhead Springs waiting for his wife to join him. She was the former Cherry Preisser, sister of June; the Frances Neal-Victor Orsatti nuptials are not far distant; George Givot, "Greek Ambassador of Good Will," and Nanette Kutner, writer, have met—and oh, well, they like each other; Bob Taylor returned today from his hunting expedition in Mexico, but Cary Cooper remains until Friday. That's all for today. See you tomorrow.

"RUNDOWN," United Artists release of the Walter Wanger production starring Gene Tierney and featuring Bruce Cabot, George Sanders, Harry Carey, Joseph Calleia, Reginald Gardiner, Carl Lumbly, Marc Lawrence and Sir Cedric Hardwicke. Directed by Henry Hathaway from Barre Lyndon's script based on his own Saturday Evening Post story. At Loew's twin theaters.

By PEGGY DOYLE

The highly-touted Gene Tierney, as a beautiful if numb woman of mystery, is one of the few pretty things about "Sundown," now unreeling menace and melodrama and drama on the State and Orpheum screens.

The currently newsworthy East African front—the Kenya country near the Abyssinian border—has been grossing out the picturegoers. Barre Lyndon's story of the Nazis' farflung connivings to foment native uprisings against the British is this distant colonial outpost.

Gene Cabot, local constabulary, has won the confidence of the natives. He questions the ruthless military tactics of the army's George Sanders, who has been ordered to take the natives who have been peddling guns to the natives.

And there are added complications. The eye-soothing Miss Tierney, in the most provocatively clinging garments, arrives at the outpost and, believe it or sue me, she's a career-woman of the desert, operator of large caravans and a vast network of native trading posts. She eagerly offers to aid Cabot in uncovering the gun-running plot.

Another arrival introduces himself as a Dutch mining engineer seeking British protection. Actually he is a Nazi agent and the Maniek's menace. Outwardly co-operative, the desert's big-business beauty joins him but only to seek needed information for the British.

Before the final sequence and "Blissful" Cedric Hardwicke's flaming London pulpit indictment of the Tory and a clarion call for faith in the new story, the British army has had to be called out to free the kidnapped girl and Cabot, who had gone to her rescue.

SOREY, but in all the excitement of telling you all the excitement that goes on and on and on in "Sundown" we neglected to mention that Joseph Callela, an Cabot's Italian prisoner of war who is a minor Escoffier at the kitchen range, trots off with the acting honors.

George Sanders, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Harry Carey, Reginald Gardiner, Marc Lawrence and Carson Esmond all are first rate in supporting roles. They hardly leave anything for Miss Tierney and Cabot, Broadway and Hollywood wolf to do but get gaga over each other. And, while on the subject of wolves, Warren William is the fanged kind in "Secrets of the Lone Wolf," the co-feature with Ruth Ford.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—This skiing lass is going to see to it that her lips aren't wind-burned and made rough and unlovely through exposure . . . she's using a colorless "foundation lipstick" with an antiseptic ingredient, which Arline Gould describes today. It may be used overnight as well. Or just to give your lipstick a velvety, softer look.

FOUNDATION LIPSTICK PREVENTS CRACKING

By ARLINE GOULD

YOU NEEDN'T BE one of those intrepid souls who walks her dogs for miles in the teeth of a blizzard, or skates with the children every day when the thermometer is around zero, or skis in weather that's steel-cold, to turn up some fine morning with your lips cracked and creped in texture . . . for even sit-by-the-fire girls often don't take the few protective steps necessary to keep their lips smooth, soft and silken.

But if you DO go in for winter sports, then the new "foundation lipstick" we've found is just as essential as your ski bindings or your shoe skate laces!

Lots of women who rush for the South at the first sign of inclement weather have been sending to New York regularly for ages, to keep up their supply of this unusual "foundation lipstick." Just because it kept their lips so satiny fresh . . . and therefore young . . . looking!

It's colorless, and may be used under lip rouge, or overnight, as a lubricant.

Now it's arrived in Boston, and the little ski bunny who's posed up above using it has tucked under her arm another necessity for the winter sports fan, a tube of sun tan cream that no smart skier dares be without once the February sun starts beating down on the snow fields, reflecting in a dazzle that can actually give quite a burn!

This "foundation lipstick" will keep the lip tissues absolutely free of dryness and roughness . . . But if they have started to crack and chap already, there is in it an antiseptic ingredient which will help prevent infection. You probably know too well what a problem a cracked lip presents . . . how long it takes to heal . . . sometimes weeks, when you don't dare apply a bit of lip rouge.

Both the "foundation lipstick" and sun tan cream are $1 each . . . and newly arrived in Boston. For all further information, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

OYSTER LOVERS throughout the land have reason to rejoice despite the wintry blasts of the early months of each year, for then the bivalve treasured through the ages by epicures reaches the heights in taste returns.

Besides yielding added palate pleasure, the oyster has a definite health contribution to make in the months when resistance is prone to be at its lowest. One of the most concentrated foods we have, this succulent shellfish is full of vitamins and minerals which we need to fight colds and more serious ailments.

There is added health protectiveness in the fact that oysters are enjoyed raw on the half-shell. In that form they are in their natural goodness and nothing of nutritive value is lost. The trend today is toward retaining the naturalness of the foods we eat and in that regard the oyster is one of the very few animal foods eaten raw.

The highly scientific and well planned cultivation of oysters not only gives us a better bivalve but stabilizes the supply so that all may enjoy this fruit of the sea. The Roman emperors who brought oysters to their festive boards from Britain at tremendous expense did not have as good a bivalve to eat as the average American today obtains for very little. Besides the actual raising of the oyster, the maintenance of its best qualities through modern facilities is so advanced today that you can obtain it in its most exquisite condition.

OYSTER PIE is only one way to serve this healthful shellfish.

CREAMED OYSTERS

6 tbsp. butter
6 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
2 cups milk
36 (1½ pint) oysters
1 cup diced raw celery
1 pimiento, minced, or
1 tsp. paprika

Melt butter, stir in flour, salt, and pepper, and when well blended, add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add drained oysters, celery, and minced pimiento or paprika. Cook gently about 3 minutes until the edges of the oysters curl. Serve at once on hot toast, in croustades, or in patty shells. Makes 6 servings. (The celery may be omitted).

OYSTER PIE

6 tbsp. butter
1 cup (¾ lb.) mushrooms
½ cup flour
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. celery salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. pepper
3½ cups milk
24 (1 pint) oysters

Pastry
Melt butter, add mushrooms, and cook 2 minutes. Stir in flour, salt, celery salt, nutmeg, and pepper, and when well blended, add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add drained oysters and pour into 6 individual baking dishes or a 2-quart baking dish. Roll pastry to fit top of dish. Make 3 or 4 slits in center and secure to moistened edge of dish. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) 10 minutes, until brown. Makes 6 servings.

OYSTER STEW

1-3 cup butter
1 pint oysters
1 quart milk
1½ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
1 tsp. paprika

Melt butter, add drained oysters, and cook 3 minutes, until edges of oysters curl. Add remaining ingredients and bring almost to boiling point. Serve at once. Garnish with paprika. Makes 6 servings.

Fashion

THE DESIGNERS let's get a peek or two at the advance Spring fashions they're getting together . . . and here's a new all-around type of spring coat in a new monotone plaid fabric, photographed in the deep shadow of a tiled roof, somewhere in the southwestern scene, mecca for American travelers today. It's the perfect ensemble coat to slip on over "little" suits or bright print dresses. Slim, easy lines, with deep revers and straight fitting sleeves cut on the bias.—ANNICE BRNK.

KNOWING SHE HELPS IN PURCHASING HATS

By BETTA BEDWELL

IF NOT TODAY, then tomorrow or a few weeks at most, you will up against the world stirring problem of picking out a new spring hat.

Your world may be a good or bad one depending on whether you do right by your face or not. All right, make you made a mistake that little number you wore this winter! If you learned something about what not to wear in the way of millinery, your money was well spent.

The pitfalls along the road leading to a hat are not very many if you know all there is to know about the shape of your face and head, the general condition of your complexion (which no makeup can completely cover), the good and bad points of your features, nose, eyes, mouth and chin, etc. And last but far from least, your neck and the shoulders and the way they are set.

After this survey, make it the business of your hat to bolster up all your good points and nullify the bad. And be ruthless about snubbing what may be offered you as "the newest fashion" unless that said newest fashion does nice things for you personally.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, THURSDAY, JAN. 15, 1942

Every man—whether reader or writer of news—sees news a bit differently

PICK YOUR SPECTACLES

Out in a California mining camp; in the early days, there was a newspaper that was "Democratic" one year, "Republican" the next, then back to "Democratic" again. The same readers went on reading it, went on voting the way their minds and hearts directed them.

The paper, you see, had a staff of two—the EDITOR and the PRINTER. The editor was a Democrat. But by the end of the year, living up to his position as editor, he owed the Republican printer money, so he gave him the paper to edit and went to work setting type.

In another year the then-REPUBLICAN editor had gone into debt, so the trade was reversed.

The point is this: The paper printed the same facts year in and year out, as they happened. It printed pretty much the same opinions, too. Except on alternate years Democrats became "rascals" and Republicans became "heroes," and vice versa—to the EDITOR. Every last reader gave the reigning editor the right to see the world through his favorite color of eyeglasses.

Every day competing merchants lay the facts, and their differing opinions about their wares, before you in the newspapers. Americans, knowing they are free to choose their OWN opinions and their OWN goods, see nothing queer or dangerous to such a live-and-let-live policy. In fact, they want to read what each merchant has to offer.

In fact, the great difference between FREE America and SLAVE Europe is this very marvel. Our basic law gives each of us the right and the duty to see things and to think and to act on our consciences and our information direct.

Your newspaper is doing its job very well indeed if it brings you ACCURATE facts and honest opinions—the more of each the better for you.

It is your job and your great privilege to agree or disagree. May we never see the time when GOVERNMENT or BUSINESS or LABOR or any "ism," "side" or "movement" tries to equip us ALL with the same rose-colored spectacles!

Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Maine Man Sees Throne of God as He Falls Dead

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Jan. 15—This town today was buzzing with excited whispers about the dramatic scene enacted in the Methodist Church when Henry M. Atwater dropped dead after describing "the throne of God."

The 77-year-old man was reading from the Bible on the platform, spectators declared, and stopped suddenly.

His face took on a deathly pallor and with great effort he continued in a hoarse, almost inaudible voice:

"I see a light—the light is opening. I see the throne of God. There are angels on either side of the throne."

The stricken man ceased speaking, then taking one more deep gasp, he continued slowly:

"I hear beautiful music—Jesus is coming down. I am dying."

The bewildered audience sat tense and silent as the gripping drama of approaching death was being recited. Then the awe-stricken congregation saw Atwater sink slowly to the floor.

Almost as one the small congregation rushed to the aged man's aid. Several men attempted to revive him, but Dr. Walter Mazzacane examined him and said:

"Mr. Atwater is dead."

A devout churchgoer, Atwater today was being credited with giving clear evidence of a life after death by all who beheld the amazing incident.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about three pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

U. S. Buys Up Aviation Gas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Defense Supplies Corp. has contracted to buy all the 100-octane aviation gasoline produced by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and the Magnolia Petroleum Co., and to advance $18,900,000 of the $65,000,000 cost of expanding production facilities of the two concerns.

The deal was announced today by Jesse Jones, Federal Loan Administrator, who said at the same time that the corporation had contracted to purchase 1300 barrels of 100-octane gasoline a day from the Cities Service Co.

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

Sonja Has No Equal, Says Ariane

ARIANE, 18-year-old Swiss figure skating star who will make her American debut at the Silver Skates Derby at the Garden on Sunday afternoon, rates Sonja Henie as the world's leading girl figure skater.

"I saw Sonja when she was an amateur," said the sparkling Ariane, "and I have yet to see a skater who is her equal. I think Sonja, Vera Hruba and some of the other stars also possess amazing ability, but I place Sonja in first position. Maybe Sonja is not as great a skater now as she was when she was an amateur, but I know that once I am well received by a Silver Skates Derby audience that my future as a skater is assured."

"I intend to make a career out of figure and fancy skating. Ice carnivals have opened a wonderful field for girls who can skate."

Starred in England

Ariane came to this country after three years of skating in Switzerland. Ariane was in England at the time the war started, and was unable to return to Switzerland.

"I still have a sister in Switzerland," said the young star. "Mother is in this country with me. We hope Switzerland will continue to be successful in keeping out of the war."

While in London, Ariane said, the house next to the one in which she lived was destroyed by a bomb.

Ariane has shown brilliant form in her Boston workouts. This talented young lady is sure to thrill the crowd at the Silver Skates Derby on Sunday afternoon.

New Orleans Racing

The Fair Grounds in New Orleans blame the lack of a healthy mutual handle to the fact bookmakers are operating wide open in the city. This is why the Fair Grounds, backed by John F. Clarke, chairman of the Louisiana Racing Commission, decided not to release scratches and jockeys until 1 p. m. on the day of the race.

This ruling will make it more difficult for the bookmakers to operate. The bettors will hesitate placing their money when they do not know what jockeys are going to ride the various thoroughbreds and when they do not know the scratches.

Bill McAuley revealed recently in a letter to this writer that in New Orleans people were betting on morning line prices, and that they went to the track in the afternoon merely to watch the races. The bettors have been more satisfied with a morning line price than they have been with mutual payoffs.

The betting has been so light at the Fair Grounds—only from $36,000 to $80,000 a day—that a wager of $1000 on a horse might cause the odds to change from 10-to-1 to 4-to-5.

Will Finish Meeting

The men who own the Fair Grounds possess considerable wealth and it is expected they will go through with their winter meeting which closes on February 17. Even rich men, however, do not like to lose money, and unless the bookmakers are cured, the Fair Grounds may decide not to open next year.

There is not a city in the United States which has permitted open betting on the scale that exists in New Orleans. One can place a bet in almost every part of the city. These wagers run as low as 10 cents. Over a period of years this condition of wide open betting has drained the pocketbooks of some of the bettors to the point where they lack even a stray $2 and are obliged to seek a bookmaker who will permit them to wager dimes instead of dollars.

The Fair Grounds is offering attractive purses, while it has an expensive staff of officials and an abundance of other overhead. Unless there is a decided pickup in the mutual handle in the near future, the Fair Grounds is destined to have a disastrous season from a financial viewpoint.

The racing at the Fair Grounds has been good as the management has insisted upon honest competition. The grade of horses has also been up to the average set by major tracks.

Braves Buy 2 Pitchers After Losing Posedel

By HERB FINNEGAN

Stricken off the Braves roster this morning was the name of Sailor Bill Posedel. Added to the roster this afternoon were the names of George Diehl and Willard Donovan. All three are pitchers.

Posedel, 32 years of age, is leaving his California home next Monday to enlist in the Navy. A right-hander, Posedel won 15 games for the Braves in 1939, his first season with them. He won 12 in 1940. He was troubled with a sore arm during most of the 1941 campaign and came up with only four victories.

Diehl and Donovan were purchased from the Braves Hartford farm club. Diehl is a right-hander, 24 years old, standing 6-02 and weighing 196. He is married and figures to be with the club all season. He started the 1941 season with Hartford where he won 2 and lost 3. Shifted to Evansville, he burned up the league, winning eight and losing none. He earned an average at Evansville was 3.18. His home is in Kingsport, Tenn.

Donovan is a 25-year-old southpaw. Lake Diehl, he is married and apparently safe from the draft. Lake Diehl, again, he stands 6-02 and weighs 198. Like Johnny Vander Meer he throws left and bats right. His home is in Maywood, Ill. He had a bang-up season at Evansville, winning 17 games and losing six. His earned run average was 2.98. He is the second southpaw the Braves have brought up from their Evansville farm. The other, Warren Spahn, is one of the most highly rated young pitchers to graduate to the big time in years.

Frank Shellenback, Red Sox pitching coach, has returned from a visit to his native Los Angeles and for the next month will be the busiest man in the Sox organization. Shelly is the man who shows the American League baseball film for the Red Sox, and he starts his Hockey Puck Ticket Of Admission in N.H.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan. 15 (AP)—The rubber situation being what it is, an official American Hockey League puck which costs about 35 cents, will be worth a $110 ticket of admission tonight for the New Haven-Indianapolis game at the Arena.

General Manager Nathan Podoloff said the idea was to collect stray discs which found their way into the pockets of fans during previous games this season.

MOIE BERG

duties tonight at Camp Edwards. He reports that there is less war talk on the West Coast than here, which is a good omen for the future of the Pacific Coast League. So good old Moie Berg won't be with the Sox this year. Moie's the pity. The credit Moie was a close friend of the baseball writers, and his remarkable memory was a big help to them on more than one occasion. He'll be missed most on the bus junkies between the Florida whistlers, for Moie's lectures on the various towns were a rare treat. Overweight baseball writers, too, will miss his "Health Club" at Sarasota and we can't help wondering what Al Schacht will do without his old sidekick.

Jim Tabor plans to get down to Sarasota two weeks ahead of the rest of the Red Sox to get in some preliminary conditioning. Right now the big third baseman is burdened with a heavy cold and is finding it difficult to shake it. Ice and snow heretofore have been strangers to the Alabamian, who is now making his home in Brighton, and he is looking forward to the time when he can bask in the Florida sun again.

GEHRINGER'S NAME OFF TIGERS' ROSTER

DETROIT, Jan. 15 (AP)—For the first time in 19 years, the name of Charles Leonard Gehringer is missing from the Detroit Tigers' team roster.

Gehringer, 32-year-old mechanical second baseman, was not among 34 players ordered by the management to report for spring training next month at Lakeland, Fla.

While admitting that Gehringer appeared to be at the end of his brilliant playing career, Tiger officials said they hoped he would remain in baseball as an aide to Manager Del Baker, presumably to be ready to give assistance at second base if needed. He would fill a coaching job vacated by Bing Miller, former Philadelphia Athletics outfielder, who was not rehired.

To fill Gehringer's post, the Tigers nominated Jimmy Bloodworth, acquired in a winter trade with Washington, and Lambert

CHARLIE GEHRINGER
No Longer Player

(Dutch) Meyer, one-time Texas Christian University footballer who was purchased from Knoxville of the Southern Association two years ago.

The Tigers assigned three of the seven available infielders to the shortstop job filled mainly last year by Frankie Croucher, who went to Washington last year in the Bloodworth deal. Murray Franklin and Eric McNair, recalled from Detroit's farm system, are slated to battle it out for the job with Bill Hitchcock, purchased from the New York Yankees chain at Kansas City.

First Baseman Rudy York and Third Baseman Pinky Higgins are unopposed for their jobs.

The Tigers have called nine outfielders, three catchers and 15 pitchers, five under the 1941 list of hurlers. Notable absences are Freddy Hutchinson and Bob Uhl, who are in the nation's armed forces. Sgt. Hank Greenberg, former outfielder, also is missing from the list.

ARIANE MAKES BIG HIT WITH LOCAL ICE CRITICS

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN THURSDAY, JAN. 15, 1942

European reports were not exaggerated in the least—Ariane is easily one of the greatest figure skaters in the world today.

The 18-year-old Swiss bit of loveliness who makes her formal American debut as the featured star of the Seventh Annual American-Record Silver Skates Derby Sunday is truly great.

Arriving in Boston Tuesday night, Ariane practiced privately at the Boston Garden yesterday afternoon before a small select group of experts including Walter Brown, general manager of the Boston Garden.

Walter, who was responsible for Sonja Henie coming here and who is really one of the originators of ice shows, was high in his praise of the slim Swiss girl who at the age of 13 was awarded the gold medal in her native land for skating perfection. She was the youngest girl to have ever received that honor.

At 16, Ariane was the International figure skating champion and would have easily retained that title except for the fact that war halted all formal competition.

FIRST BIG SHOW IN U. S.

During the last two years she has skated under the direction of Gerschweiler and Mickeler—the two finest teachers in Europe. Both insist that if competition had not been halted, she would have won every championship on the continent.

With the fanfare, Ariane arrived in America last month.

After spending the past few weeks becoming acclimated, she is ready to show America that she is great.

The Silver Skates Derby is her first real appearance.

And Ariane is determined to put on the finest exhibition she has ever given. For that reason she came on so early.

FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED

With four days of practice on the Garden ice, she will be at her peak for the great indoor classic Sunday.

Ariane, alone, would well be worth the price of admission but with a brilliant four hour show including Jane Welch, 15-year-old figure skater from Walpole, and clowns such as Hal Haig, Ernie Howe and Joe Shilian, together with the hundreds of speed skaters, it's a terrific take in.

The entire Garden is tried to fit every purse. Reserved seats at 55c. Then the entire balcony (Ed note—the front of the balcony provides the best seats in the house) and the entire stadium—some 13,000 seats are reserved.

It's first come, first served. Get there early and you can have an unreserved seat that will compare with any of the boxes.

Zivic Predicts K. O. Over Negro

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (INS)—"I'll take me about seven rounds to hurt him, but he can't take it in the belly and when I do tag him I'll knock him out somewhere between the seventh and 12th rounds."

That was the promise of Old Man Fritzie Zivic today as he talked of tomorrow night's battle with Sugar Ray Robinson, the Harlem hotshot who has not been beaten in 26 professional fights.

Zivic is called the "Old Man" because he has been reported over the hill more than any other top-notch battler still tossing leather. And if he loses to Robinson tomorrow evening it probably will mark his last chance of getting a shot at the welterweight title he once held.

Zivic lost the crown on a stunning upset to Freddie (Red) Cochran of New Jersey last summer and has been trying to get a return chance at it since. He was on the way to doing so last fall when he was matched with the sensational, but young, Robinson—and lost.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 15 (AP)—Hialeah Park officials expressed confidence today that their 45-day meeting would be a financial success, after a colorful crowd had set an opening-day attendance record of 16,294.

Despite the war, yesterday's throng exceeded by more than 1000 the 15,696 who turned out for last year's inaugural.

Wagering was $454,740, compared to $411,148 on the opening day of 1941.

The crowd, which included a good sprinkling of socially prominent folk and sports and stage celebrities, saw its favorites beaten in both the top races.

William Hirschenson's De Kalb sprinted to a length and a half victory at $13.30 for $2 in the $5000 Inaugural Handicap, as the heavily backed Sweet Willow faded to fourth.

32 Rationing of Tires Hits Izaak Waitons

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (Wide World)—Looking ahead (maybe): The Tennis Ass'n is planning to reduce its tournament activity for 1942 to one big affair at Forest Hills.

If Wayne Sabin and Gardner Mulloy turn pro, only five of the first ten will be left and the Army may get a couple of them.

Amateur boxing talent is getting so scarce in Virginia they say the State A. A. tournament may be called off.

The Sacramento (Cal.) winter baseball league has just lost its 14th team because of war conditions... Walnut Hall Farm, the famous Kentucky horse nursery, is planning to experiment with raising hemp, once an important crop in the Bluegrass country.

One result of the tire rationing may be that fishermen will have to stay closer to home and rely on heavy stocking to catch fish.

Out in Chicago Monday morning, the secretary of Draft Board No. 84 was checking through her records... Suddenly she turned to the selectees who had been appointed leader of the group about to leave for the scene of physical exams... "Please return one of those street car tokens I gave you," she said. "Mr. Louis isn't here."

First time Joe Louis hears the bugler play "The Get 'Em Up" he'll probably think of Ray Arcel, who has had to say that about 11 of Joe's victims.

Ariane, 18-year-old Swiss skating star, makes her American debut at Boston Sunday... Milt Aron, the Chicago lightweight, is in a hospital battling pneumonia.

Mokey McConnell, who looks after the Dodgers' farm business, reports an encounter with a college athlete director who had an athlete 6 feet 8 1/2 inches tall and was giving him stretching exercises in the hope that he'd get too tall for the Army.

Ed Kane of Portland, Me., writes that 14 of 15 players on the Cheverus High squad are Irish, the coach is Irish and so are 9 of the 20 freshman players... "P. S.—They are nicknamed the 'Fighting Irish,'" Ed writes.

Banjo Smith, Columbia (S. C.) record!

"One hope I have for '32. A hope you too, most share; I hope we've heard the very last Of Max and Buddy Bear."

When the Texas Aggies football team, returning from the Washington State game, heard of the Pearl Harbor attack, talked to H. C. (Pelly) Dittman, Aggie glider who had become an Army flier.

One of them said: "I bet he's shooting and laughing, and I bet he comes back with enough medals to fill a chest. The guy doesn't know the meaning of the word fear."... A month later, Dick Freeman of the Honolulu Chronicle, who reported that remark, published the postscript: Lieut. H. C. Dittman had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for piloting a secret flight of bombers from Honolulu to the Philippines.

S. B. Boys Club Holds First Swimming Meet

The South Boston Clubhouse of the Boys' Clubs of Boston will hold its first annual open swimming meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. This meet is sanctioned by the N. E. A. A. U., and the leading swimmers in this section are expected to compete.

The 40-year-old men's freestyle event for the New England senior championship should be closely contested with entries from Bill Despres, National Boys' Club champ; Barnes, Kurwen and Christman of the Harvard A. A., and Paulson, Pendleton and Jones from the Providence Central Boys' Club.

Rangers Close In on Bruins

Toronto's Maple Leafs, struggling to recapture the lead in the National Hockey League, which eluded them Christmas week, get a chance to move into a second-place tie with the New York Rangers tonight when they tangle with the last place Canadiens at Montreal.

At the same time, the Brooklyn Americans bang into the Chicago Black Hawks at Madison Square Garden in search of the fifth notch in the league standings, a position with which they have been flitting for weeks.

The Rangers and the fifth-place Detroit Red Wings won't be able to protect their places since both will be idle, along with the league-leading Boston Bruins.

Boston is out in front in the nip-and-tuck three-way race for the lead, two points ahead of the Rangers. A Toronto victory tonight would enable the Leafs to match the Ranger total of 23 points. The Americans, one point behind Detroit, will be seeking their second conquest over the fourth-place Hawks in a series that has been marked by one-goal victory margins.

Manager Red Dutton will put a revamped lineup on the Garden ice for Brooklyn's appearance tonight.

Helen McAndrew, defenseman, and Gus Markner, a wing, were shipped to Springfield of the American Hockey League yesterday as part of a shakeup instituted by Dutton in a bid to rally from the 2-1-2 setback the Americans suffered in its last outing against the Rangers.

For replacements, Bill Summerhill, leading scorer of the American League, has been called from Springfield and Andy Brannigan, defenseman, has recovered sufficiently from a leg injury to report for action.

USLTA Gives Tennis Back to Amateurs

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Faced with the problem of carrying on through the war with what players the armed forces don't need and the professional don't want, the U. S. Lawn Tennis Ass'n is about to take the game away from the stars and hand it over to the boys who still find the net too high.

The first step in adjusting the U. S. L. T. A. program to wartime requirements will be taken at the organization's annual meeting here Saturday, with President Holcombe Ward advocating a plan to "get people out of the grandstands and onto the courts."

Specifically, Ward will request the executive committee to cancel the national indoor tournament for men this year and let the outdoor championships, both singles and doubles, be decided in one tournament at Forest Hills instead of separately as in the past.

If Ward's plan is approved, the one national outdoor tournament for both men and women in singles and doubles will be held here Aug. 27 to Sept. 7. The plan does not involve the women's indoor meet.

YOUNGSTERS TO FILL IN

"Most of the ranking players among the men probably will be in the service by then," Ward said, "but there will be many young men under military age to fill their places, thanks to the association's junior development program."

In the future, Ward said, the U. S. L. T. A. will pay less attention to the first 10 ranking players and more attention to the rank and file.

Actually, when the association convenes, it will find gaping holes already torn in its "first 10" by enlistments and professional tours with additional losses imminent, due to both causes.

Bobby Riggs and Frank Kovacs, ranking stars of 1941, decided to play for pay and Gene Mako traded his position at 14th ranking amateur for a brief whirl in the touring pros and $5000 on the side.

Wayne Sabin and Gardner Mulloy, the sixth and seventh ranking stars, have been approached with a professional offer and are awaiting only a hike in the ante before giving up their amateur status.

LEANS TOWARD NAVY

Bitzy Grant ranked No. 8; Joe Hunt, Frank Guernsey and Hal Surface already have entered the armed forces. Former champion Don McNeill, who slipped from first to fourth in 1941, is thinking of joining the Navy on his return from a South American tour.

That leaves only Frank Parker, Ted Schroeder, Jack Kramer and Bill Talbot among the top ten, and it is likely the weapon they will carry next fall won't be tennis rackets.

Ward said the U. S. L. T. A. would sanction tournaments which serve a useful purpose and provide opportunities to raise funds for the Red Cross, U. S. O. and other war relief organizations.

"Tournaments will be sanctioned in preference to amateur exhibitions," he said, "for tournament competition helps many players whereas exhibition matches provide competition for only a few."

Ward also will recommend that tournaments be maintained on an amateur basis, that neither cash prizes nor the equivalent be awarded to winners, and that amateur tournaments not be thrown open to professionals on any pretext.

545,835 TO 1 SHOT—There were eight dogs in this race and the chances of the dogs finishing in mathematical order are 545,835 to 1, according to the figure wolves. Well the dogs finished from 8 back to 1 in order as the camera shows. It happened at the Biscayne track where last year eight greyhounds finished 1 to 8 in a race. Above you see Pookie Bee (8) winning, with Highland Roll (7), Duo Tone (6), Wooden Indian (5), Lucky Panther (4), Risky Night (3), Princess Flagler (2) and Harvest Time (1) behind him in mathematical order.

One-Legged Skier Stars In Quebec's Big Meets

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

LAC BEAUPORT, Que., Jan. 15—Many skiers have a great deal of difficulty skiing on two legs; the mention of a one-legged skier seems almost fantastic—but it is true! While skiing at this resort, we saw the amazing Yves Gosselin, a one-legged skier of Quebec. Here is certainly an item for Ripley!

At the age of 12, due to some tubercular bone trouble, this chap lost his right leg. With unsurpassed courage, however, he overcame this great handicap, and became a most remarkable athlete. Shussing the slope with streamlined speed, leaving smoking ski tracks behind him, Monsieur Gosselin is one of the best exponents of the art we have ever seen. His balance is uncanny and he rarely falls. Making turns at will, he uses his poles lightly on which to pivot from side to side in tempo fashion.

This miraculous skier is a student at Laval University in Quebec, ranking high in his classes. He speaks only a little English, but, after all, 80 per cent of the inhabitants speak only French.

Yves competes in slalom and downhill races and always places high up in large fields. He is also an expert swimmer as he is a skier. Truly an undaunted spirit!

Many laughs are to be had skiing with Fritz Local, head of the Ski Hawk School at the Chateau Frontenac, and lunching with him is no exception. Ordering dessert, Fritz said, "Give me some blueberry pie with a la mode on it."

There certainly is a cosmopolitan touch to skiing in Canada. . . . At Mount St. Castin in the Beauport Region, skiers go in to the Monsieur, the chalet at the foot of the slope, for a two-hour lunch, with an ale or two first. A very idyllic existence!

The war has not really thinned out the flying figures on Canadian hills and mountains very much. A great many of the officers and men go on skiing vacations while on furlough.

No one in Canada travels to the snow fields by automobile. Scores of snow trains run every week-end from Montreal to all the fashionable resorts in the Laurentians including St. Adele, St. Sauver and Mont Tremblant.

New England's famous ski spots such as Cannon Mountain, the Eastern Slopes Region, Mount Mansfield and Pico Peak intrigue the skiers here. They all want to visit these centers as soon as the war clouds lift. . . . Although the

BARRY'S GOAL SAVES PICS FROM DEFEAT

"They're the toughest club in the league," said Eddie Barry, former Northeastern athlete but more recently the scoring star of the Boston Olympics, in the dressing room following the 1-1 overtime deadlock with the New York Rovers at the Garden.

"They're a club that never gives up," added Ty Anderson, "and a team like that is always hard to beat."

A half dozen more players readily agreed with Barry and Anderson as they were discussing the hard fought battle which all the more confirms Coach Hago Harrington's continued statement that New York is the outfit to beat.

POLICH GREAT IN NETS
Both clubs battled through 70 minutes of play before a midweek gathering of close to 7500. Although the Pies came from behind they were outplayed throughout the game. The only thing that saved the locals from a defeat was the scintillating play of Vic Polich in the nets.

Vic came up with one of his best performances since taking over the "gaspipe" job. He was stopping them from all angles. His saves were 43 to 31 for Jack McGill.

BARRY LIFESAVER

Again it was a goal by Eddie Barry that kept the Pies in the game. It was Barry who not only tallied twice in the Walker Cup game against Johnstown Saturday night but it was his second goal that night gave his mates their first trophy win. And last night, his marker at 8:43 of the third period put the O's on even terms and sent the teams into overtime.

The Olympics' unbeaten string has now reached seven, equal with their early season mark.

Coach Hago Harrington will have them back on the ice tonight and tomorrow in preparation for the week-end series at the Garden with Baltimore Saturday night and River Vale Sunday night.

Varsity Club to Honor B. C. Grid Lettermen

Gold footballs, inscribed with a maroon "E" and the score of last fall's spectacular (14-13) conquest of Holy Cross, will be presented the Boston College football lettermen by the B. C. A. A. Sunday evening at the Varsity Club testimonial to be held at the University Club.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, Coach Denry Myers, and Jim Britt, radio sports commentator, will be numbered among the speakers at the affair.

B. C. Six Faces Problem Of Finding Defenseman

Weakened considerably by the loss of Linden "Lindy" Blanchard, husky sophomore right defenseman, the Boston College six, undefeated and untied in five starts and leading the New England Intercollegiate League, will have to go at top speed if it hopes to retain its spotless slate at the expense of second place and undefeated (in league competition) Colby at Waterville, Me., Saturday.

Blanchard joined Uncle Sam's fast growing Army Wednesday. Eagle Coach John "Snooks" Kelley, who has had his share of bad breaks this season, will select a replacement for Blanchard after tomorrow's practice session at the Arena.

SULLIVAN HAS EDGE

Leading candidates for the job include Charlie Sullivan, second line wing who is a letterman hold-over from last year's championship six; Alex Skene, hard hitting sophomore from Newton; Ed Schene, rugged sophomore from Medford, and Walter Fitzgerald, husky second year man from Dorchester via B. C. High.

Sullivan, a senior, may get the call. Charlie has been playing great hockey at wing all season long, but Mentor Kelley feels that it might be more to the team's advantage to have Sullivan at defense and a replacement on the second line.

George Malone, junior letterman from Arlington whom Coach Kelley calls the "most improved man on the squad" will probably move to Sully's wing berth if senior Charlie pairs with Harry Crovo, sophomore sensation, at defense.

Capt. Ralph Powers, rugged left wing, and Wally Boudreau, speedy, high scoring center first line members have been used at defense when B. C. has been short handed by penalties this season. Both have performed in commendable fashion. They very likely will see lots of service, between front line and point duty, against Colby.

The Eagles just nosed out the White Mules in a race for the league title last winter.

252 TO COMPETE IN MALDEN HIGH TRACK MEET

Started two years ago to help build track talent among the youngsters here in New England, the Third Annual Malden High School A. A. indoor meet scheduled for this coming Saturday afternoon at the new Marshall Gymnasium, Malden, has attracted a record entry list of 252 competitors.

Entries have been filed from 16 high schools spread through Massachusetts, Rhode Island and

New Hampshire. And, to give the meet a military touch, there will be a team of 14 trackmen wearing the colors of Camp Edwards. Among the entrants from Camp Edwards is Sergeant Tom Cary, National A. A. U. mile relay champion who is favored to win the dash and may take a double by coming home out front in the 500, too.

In fact there will be a special 40-yard dash for the enlisted men in the Army, Navy and Marines but they are by no means restricted to that event alone.

This meet has become an annual fixture at Malden due largely to the great interest shown by Farnsworth G. Marshall who is superintendent of schools in Malden and the man for whom the gymnasium at the high school has been named.

With 232 entries, the coming meet Saturday is second only to the B. A. A. meet here in New England.

2 British Tars to Meet In Diamond Belt Finals

Free-swinging, fast-stepping, hard-hitting young New England mitt artists are busily preparing themselves for the acid test next Monday night at Boston Arena when the Irish-American A. A. sponsors the grand finals of the big Diamond Belt tournament. In all, there will be in the neighborhood of 30 stiff punching contests.

The card will consist of bouts in the eight divisions at championship weights and three classes of novices at 135, 147 and 160 pounds. Not only will every one of the youngsters in the open classes be trying to win a Diamond Belt title but also earn the right to compete in the Grand All-America Finals, which are to be held at Boston Garden on Jan. 26.

R. I. HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

The winners in the open classes also will be named members of the Boston team to compete against the C. Y. O. champions from Chicago, Allegheny Mountain titleholders from Pittsburgh and the boys who last month at the Garden won Eastern All-America crowns. The lightweights and welterweights on the card are "topa." In the former division is Robert Logan, 19-year-old Westerly, R. I. high school student, one of the cleverest youngsters in New England. Walter Barch, 19-year-old Worcester lens maker, who gave so much trouble to Francis Leonard of Taunton in the N. E. All-America tournament; Norman Giles, 20-year-old Wilmington laborer, a steady performer who has been improving with leaps and bounds in each show and hard-sitting Norman LeBlanc, 21-year-old Gardner hospital attendant, who promises to put the rest of the class to sleep on Monday.

The welters have two British tarts, both from the same ship, which is now in Boston, two bitter rivals for ring supremacy.

Harry McLachlan, 25-year-old Scot from Glasgow, with a record of 23 wins in 3 years, and Walter Rush, a fighting Britisher from London, are set for the battle to determine the championship of their ship.

But Messrs. McLachlan and Rush will not have things so easy for the other two contenders, Frank MacDougall, 19-year-old Roxbury gas station attendant, and Edward Martin, 25-year-old Plymouth laborer, have other ideas about the winner.

Perry Finally Beats Kovacs

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Fred Perry, who has lost eight straight matches since starting a professional tennis tour with Don Budge, Bobby Riggs and Frank Kovacs, finally won his first one when he turned back Kovacs at the Stadium, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4. Riggs, current leader in the round robin play among the four, defeated Budge in the other singles match, 6-3, 6-3, for his ninth victory against four defeats. Kovacs has won seven of 12 and Budge has a record of six and six.

Only Three Remain Undeclared in Title Billiards

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—The world three-cushion billiards tournament's undeclared field, which lost Ralph Greenleaf yesterday, may be reduced even further today if Earle Lookabaugh maintains his surprising play. The Chicagoan had not won a match going into yesterday's play. But against Greenleaf, the pocket billiards champion making his first bid for three-cushion honors, Lookabaugh showed form, from the start and polished off his foe with a brilliant finish—29 points in 10 frames—to win 50 to 33. The match went 46 innings, and was Lookabaugh's first victory in four starts. Tonight Lookabaugh will continue his undermining campaign against another undefeated opponent—Weller Cochran. Champion Willie Hoppe also will return to action, seeking his third win in a row at the expense of Art Rubin of Brooklyn, who has yet to win a match. The threesome of Hoppe,

CHMIELEWSKI EAGER TO LAND OVERLIN BOUT

By RINGSIDE

Henry Chmielewski looked as if he were in the best condition of his career as he ended his training at Kelley and Hayes' gym for his ten-round bout with Frankie Nelson of Roxbury at a Boston Boxing Assn. show at Mechanics building tomorrow night.

Chmielewski displayed heavy punching power and an abundance of speed as he whirled through six fast rounds. The Polish middleweight is one of the hardest hitting boxers of his weight in the country, and if he can nail Nelson on the chin the colored sensation will be in for some rough going.

NELSON CAREFUL BOXER

"We realize Nelson is one of the best of the middleweight crop," said Trainer Harry Kelley, "but I think Chummy will outpunch and outbox him. I know the Polish youth is in the best condition he has been in for any of his Boston bouts. Now that Jack O'Brien has signed Ken Overlin to meet the winner, you may look for Chmielewski to go to town behind blazing punches."

Nelson has been brought up to the bout carefully by Jere Gardner who used to train Jim Maloney and Dick Finnegan. Nelson has looked impressive in his Boston ring appearances and it is expected he will enter the ring a slight favorite.

SFORZA MEETS LUCIANO

The signing of Ken Overlin to meet the winner gives added importance to the show.

In the eight-round semi-final Al Sforza, North End, will meet Al Luciano, Lynn. "The Angel" retained his world's heavyweight wrestling crown, downing Chief Osley Saunooke in the second and third falls of the main bout at the Arena last night before 6500.

The Angel lost the first fall in 5:43 succumbing to the Indian's top body press. He came back to take the second fall in 9:10 with an upright crotch and top body press and scored the clincher in 8:38 with an arm lock and body press.

In the semi-final Sliding Bill Hansen and Steve Casey wrestled 30 minutes to a draw.

BREAKS HOOP RECORD

CANYON, Tex., Jan. 15 (AP)—Price Brookfield, 21-year-old forward for West Texas State, has tallied 87 points in five border conference basketball games to surpass the record Joe Jackson of the New Mexico Aggies hung up in 1933. Jackson scored 81 in six games.

The standings:

2 Hub Sextets Take Bow Today

Commerce and Roslindale hockey sextets made their seasonal debuts today at the Garden as the Boston schoolboys met for round No. 3.

Coach "Doc" Fleming's Commerce outfit took the ice first against Mechanic Arts, the contest getting under way at 2:30 o'clock. The Artisans, 6-1 winners over Dorchester High last week, were slight favorites to dump the Pen and Pencil boys.

Roslindale, usually a title contender in the District division, met Charlestown in the second game of the day. The other contests brought together Brighton, undefeated in two games, and Jamaica Plain, while Roxbury Memorial battled Dorchester.

Malden Boxer Meets Stein in Fall River

Harold Harris of Malden and Carl Stein will clash tonight in the main bout of eight rounds at the Fall River Casino.

Six-rounders will have the following boys paired: Nat Canatta of Providence vs. Pop Eye O'Coyle of Marlboro; Babe Synnot of Fall River vs. Jackie Collins of Boston; George Beckles of Cambridge vs. Al Bojce of Central Falls; Johnny Dyson of New Bedford vs. Eddie Mitchell of Cambridge.

Ban Proposed to Stop Mound Conferences

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 15 (AP)—President Thomas Richardson of the Eastern Baseball League today proposed that mound conferences between managers and "waving pitchers" be limited to one a game.

Commenting on the coming season, during wartime, Richardson asserted: "If night baseball is permitted, or twilight ball becomes the solution, we will do everything in our power to keep the games moving and prohibit all stalling tactics."

2 N. E. TITLES AT STAKE IN GARDEN BOUTS

Italian Jack Dempsey, New England light heavyweight champion, will risk his crown against a neighbor from New Bedford, Ted Lowry, in a 12-round bout next Wednesday night at the Boston Garden when the Goodwin A. C., with Rip Valenti, matchmaker and foreman, steps back into action.

Dempsey is the official N. E. 175-pound king, having his position verified no longer ago than last Monday when the N. E. Boxing Ass'n, composed of the commissioners from these states met. Lowry was declared the runner-up and now the No. 1 and No. 2 light heavyweights in New England battle it out. Dempsey is a choice although it would surprise no one if Lowry steps up and knocks the crown off his dome.

At the same meeting of the N. E. B. A., Johnny Shkor, Brighton, was named N. E. heavyweight champion, successor to Natie Mann, New Haven, who abdicated his title not so long ago to join up with the U. S. fighting forces, enlisting in the Coast Guard.

Shkor, the new N. E. heavyweight king, battles Billy Weinberger, Chelsea, in the first defense of his crown.

Ott Predicts Better Giants For '42 Fight

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15 (AP)

—Melvin Ott, who never was known to boast about himself, even though he has been one of baseball's greatest players for 15 years, won't brag about his club either, now that he is a manager.

"We ought to have a pretty good team," is the extent to which he'll tout the New York Giants, for whom he's worked practically half his life.

WILL BE STRONGER

Speaking technically, Mel figures the Giants should be stronger both offensively and defensively, but he won't concede that means an improvement from last year's fifth position.

"I don't know where we're going to finish," he said, "I don't want to make any predictions about the National League race." Mel expects his managerial duties to take him to New York next week. His team goes into training next month in Miami.

He looks for plenty of help from the seven players called up from Jersey City, Connie Ryan from Atlanta of the Southern Ass'n, and three big league acquisitions, Bill Werber, Johnny Mize and Hank Leibert.

"However," he says, "we need another good pitcher, but I have no idea where we can get the kind we want."

The extended month which has been added this year because of the unlimited interest in the use of firearms due to the outbreak of the war runs through till two weeks from tomorrow, January 30. Entries filed after this date, will not be accepted.

So, all clubs which have not yet entered and have intentions of doing so, will greatly help the committee if they file their blanks as soon as possible.

The added time proved to be of great value to both the various gun clubs and those interested in learning the use of firearms. Queries continue to come in from individuals who want rifle instruction or wish to join a club. Because of the numerous requests, some of the letters have not been answered yet, but they will all be taken care of.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.
